U.N.C. - Where The Action Is!

It happens every autumn. The band plays "Here Comes Carolina," and pandemonium breaks loose in Kenan Stadium. Football is vibrant part of campus life at Chapel Hill. The men who play the sport do great honor to themselves and to the school.
In this 81st season of football competition, interest among the fans is pulsating as usual. The home schedule is one of the most attractive in recent years. Tickets are going at a fast clip. Bill Dooley, the young and dynamic head coach, has predicted an improved team in the second season of his rebuilding program.
The stage is set for an exciting season. The University invites its thousands of friends to be a part of the football magic at Chapel Hill this fall. See you there.

1968 FOOTBALL BLUE BOOK

Carolina football is BIG—and so is the press coverage of the Tar Heels!

Press, radio and television men from all across the country have watched games in Kenan Stadium in recent years. 1968 promises to be the biggest ever.

More than 65 stations in three states will carry the Tar Heel Football Network during the 1968 season. Bill Currie, The Mouth of the South from WSOC-TV in Charlotte, again will handle the play-by-play. He is regarded as one of the country's finest announcers.

Currie also will be the M.C. throughout the football season on the Bill Dooley Show which will be televised across the state of North Carolina each Sunday.

The campus television station, WUNC-TV, under the direction of John Young, will cover home games and offer viewers a play-back on Sunday evenings.

The Kenan Stadium press box has 67 seats for sports writers and every seat is filled for every game. The sports writers of the big North Carolina dailies are regular guests and writers who cover visiting teams always get choice seats.

Each week during the season, a press luncheon features Coach Bill Dooley. During this time as many as 10 radio and television stations make tapes. And some of the conferences attract more than 40 reporters and announcers.

Working press credentials for Carolina home games can be secured by contacting Jack Williams in the Office of Sports Information. Requests are screened with care to assure a working press box. Children, wives and pets are not admitted in compliance with the working code of the Football Writers of America.

THE UNIVERSITY

The University of North Carolina is located in an area known as "The Southern Part of Heaven," Chapel Hill.

It is unique in that the town and the institution often are known as one. An old grad will remark, "I attended Chapel Hill in 1908." Of course he means the University.

The ivy around the town of Chapel Hill links to that of the University buildings. It is a sleepy town, yet a resourceful one. It is a town where Negro women sit beneath the shade of a tree a few yards from the door of a bank—selling neat little bouquets of flowers to the passerby.

It is a town which Time Magazine once called "one of the 20 most enjoyable places to live in the United States." It is a town without pretense, one in which the fellow wearing the $150 suit may run a small cafe while his conversational partner, looking worn and tattered, may well be a successful novelist.

Here are some other facts of interest about one of America's great Universities:

—It is the oldest state university in the United States, first admitting students in 1795 when George Washington was President.

—There are 14 schools and colleges, including more than 70 departments and numerous other divisions.

—Thanks to 172 years of planning, the campus is considered one of the most beautiful anywhere in the world.

—James Knox Polk, a graduate of the class of 1818, became the 11th president of the United States.

—The Morehead Planetarium on campus helps train the astronauts.

—An integral part of the University is the Division of Health Affairs, a six-fold medical-dentistry-public health complex which includes the North Carolina Memorial Hospital.

—Thirty of North Carolina's 49 governors have been graduates of the University at Chapel Hill.

—The University has its own on-campus radio and television stations.

—Carolina is one of three southern schools which rank at the top of southern Universities in a comprehensive study of graduate schools conducted by the American Council on Education.

—There are many famous alumni. Thomas Wolfe, the great novelist, schooled here. Chapel Hill is recognized as a literary haven.

—A distinction is the fact that most scholars from other colleges and universities in the south choose the University at Chapel Hill as their first choice to attend when awards are made by the Southern Fellowship Fund.

—Chapel Hill is the center of an area abundant in concerts, art exhibitions, lectures, plays and sports events. Many of these are held in Chapel Hill—at the Ackland Art Center, Morehead Art Galleries, Hill Music Hall, Carolina Playmakers Theatre, Forest Theatre, Graham Memorial, Memorial Hall, Gerrard Hall, Kenan Stadium and Carmichael Auditorium.

—Of a full-time faculty of more than 1,100, more than half are natives of states other than North Carolina.

—All 50 states are represented in the student body at Carolina.

—In a traditional program of student self-government, undergraduates have their own legislature, system of honor courts and student publications. These include a daily newspaper, "The Daily Tar Heel."

—There are more than 1,100 faculty members, many of them professors of international stature. But perhaps the most famed "professor" is Kay Kyser, a Chapel Hill resident. He was the original "Professor of Musical Knowledge" on radio.

—In athletics, Carolina won its first national championship in basketball in 1924 with a 23-0 record. In 1957, the Tar Heels did it again with a 32-0 record. Last year's team finished second in the country with a 34-4 record.

—Jimmy Beatty, a Tar Heel trackman of the 1950s, was the first American to break the four-minute mile barrier.

This is the University. This is Chapel Hill.

UNC'S CHANCELLOR

Excellence in all departments is the firm approach of

J. CARLYLE SITTERSON

Carolina's No. 1 sports fan is Chancellor J. Carlyle Sitterson who has been waving the Tar Heel banner at big games ever since his undergraduate days here in 1927.

And you can take it from football Coach Bill Dooley, Dr. Sitterson is a mighty good man to have on your team.

"He's a competitor," says Dooley. "The Chancellor wants to win. He is striving for excellence in the football program just like he does in all the departments of the University. I appreciate his support in my first season on the job here."

All athletic teams at Carolina are, indeed, fortunate in having Chancellor Sitterson as one of their most enthusiastic fans. The busy and often frantic schedule of being Chancellor of one of America's great Universities does not interfere with his attendance at the major sports events on campus.

Whether the Tar Heels win or lose, the Chancellor usually is the first man in the dressing room after a big game. He walks from player to player, expressing his admiration for a game well played.

Last season in Dooley's first year on the job, the Chancellor dropped by the football practice field often. Several times before big games, Dooley asked him to speak to the players and the Chancellor gave them a fighting pep talk.

Chancellor Sitterson has an approach to athletics that is basic and understandable. "I look at our athletic department in the same manner I might look at our English or our history department," he says. "I expect a certain amount of excellence. Athletics on the college level should be administered properly and above reproach. Our coaches are highly capable men. Our teams should perform accordingly."

This is Chancellor Sitterson's 42nd year on the Carolina campus. In 1927, he enrolled here as a student. He became the No. 1 man on the campus on May 9, 1966 when he was named to head the University.

The Chancellor was honored in 1967 when he was awarded the honorary degree, Doctor of Literature, at the University of Chattanooga.

Professor Sitterson was elected by his colleagues to be chairman of the American Conference of Academic Deans and served in that top post in 1964-65. It is one of the highest academic offices that can be held by a scholar and administrator in higher education in the United States.

The American Conference of Academic Deans is composed of liberal arts and arts and sciences administrators in the rank of dean, with representation from more than 500 of the leading colleges and universities in the United States having membership in the Association of American Colleges.

He was chosen in 1958 to be one of 35 deans from throughout the nation to attend the Harvard University Institute for College and University Administrators, participating in a week-long discussion on faculty recruitment, faculty promotion, curriculum planning, budget policy and the decision-making functions of the academic dean.

He is listed in: Who's Who in America; Who's Who in the South; Who Knows What; and the Directory of American Scholars.

He was simultaneously Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and Dean of the General College. He served in both these capacities until 1965 when he was made Vice Chancellor of the University, with authority over all the central campus, and also the Schools in the Health Affairs area which includes Medical School, Dentistry, Nursing, Pharmacy and Public Health.

Carlyle Sitterson was a member of Phi Beta Kappa when he was a student in the University from 1927-1931.

He is an enthusiastic and inspiring teacher. In 1954, the campus literary magazine, The Carolina Quarterly, identified him as one of the "Ten Outstanding Professors" as adjudged by students in the University.

He was selected to be a Kenan Professor in 1961.

He received the PhD. degree at Chapel Hill in 1937, the M.A. in 1932. He has been a member of the faculty since 1935.

P.S.S. 464

Acting Athletic Director of the University

Walter RABB

Walter Rabb, one of the country's best known and most respected college coaches, is serving as acting athletic director at the University of North Carolina.

Chancellor J. Carlyle Sitterson named Rabb to the post in May when C. P. (Chuck) Erickson resigned after 13 years as the athletic director.

Rabb experienced no difficulty in adjusting to the new position. He had served the department as assistant athletic director since July, 1961 and was familiar with all the details of the top post.

Coach Rabb is a man of many talents—and he gets an opportunity to use practically all of them at Carolina. In addition to his administrative position, he serves as head baseball coach and even finds time to teach in the physical education department.

A native of Lenoir, N. C., Rabb graduated from North Carolina State University and attended graduate school at Carolina in 1940 and 1941. He joined the physical education staff here in 1942.

Rabb became assistant baseball coach under the late Bunn Hearn in 1949 and inherited the top job upon Hearn's death in 1957. Rabb actually directed most of the baseball operations throughout the 1950s because of Hearn's failing health.

Since taking the reins as the head man in 1950, Rabb has directed the Tar Heels to 323 wins out of 453 contests for a winning percentage of better than 72 percent.

Three of Rabb's teams since 1960 have won the Atlantic Coast Conference championship and most all of them have been in strong contention for that honor.

The Carolina chief was a fine baseball player at North Carolina State and later played professionally. He was noted as a slick fielding shortstop.

A past president of the American Association of Baseball Coaches, Rabb also has been ACC Coach of the Year and in 1966 was named District Three Coach of the Year.

When Rabb isn't busy in the Carolina athletic offices, he usually can be found hunting or fishing. He's an expert at both sports.

He is married to the former Amy Warren of Snow Hill, N. C. and they have a son, Walter, and a daughter, Amy.

Consultant and Advisor to the Department of Athletics

Chuck ERICKSON

Charles P. (Chuck) Erickson resigned last May as Athletic Director at the University of North Carolina, but remained on the staff in the important role of Consultant and Advisor to the Department of Athletics.

In his 16 years as top man in the Tar Heel athletic department, Erickson shaped up a program that ranks among the best and earned a reputation as one of the nation's most able athletic administrators.

In making the announcement of Erickson's resignation, Chancellor J. Carlyle Sitterson made it clear that Chuck will play an active and important role in Tar Heel athletics in his new position.

Erickson seconded that motion. "I feel we've made a lot of strides here in my time," Erickson said. "But there's a lot of work to be done and I plan to be a part of it."

Under Erickson's direction, Carolina has enjoyed its finest hours in sports. Most of the athletic facilities here, which rank among the best in the nation, are the result of his planning and direction. Erickson personally raised the money from supporters and backers of the University for many of the building projects.

Erickson suffered a stroke last December while he was attending the winter meeting of the Atlantic Coast Conference at Myrtle Beach, S. C. He has made a rapid recovery and now is in such fine condition that he has returned to one of his biggest loves—golf.

Mr. Erickson first became known to Tar Heel fans more than 25 years ago when he was a halfback under Coach Chuck Collins. He had come to Chapel Hill from Oak Park, Ill., where just down the street lived the world-famous author, Ernest Hemingway.

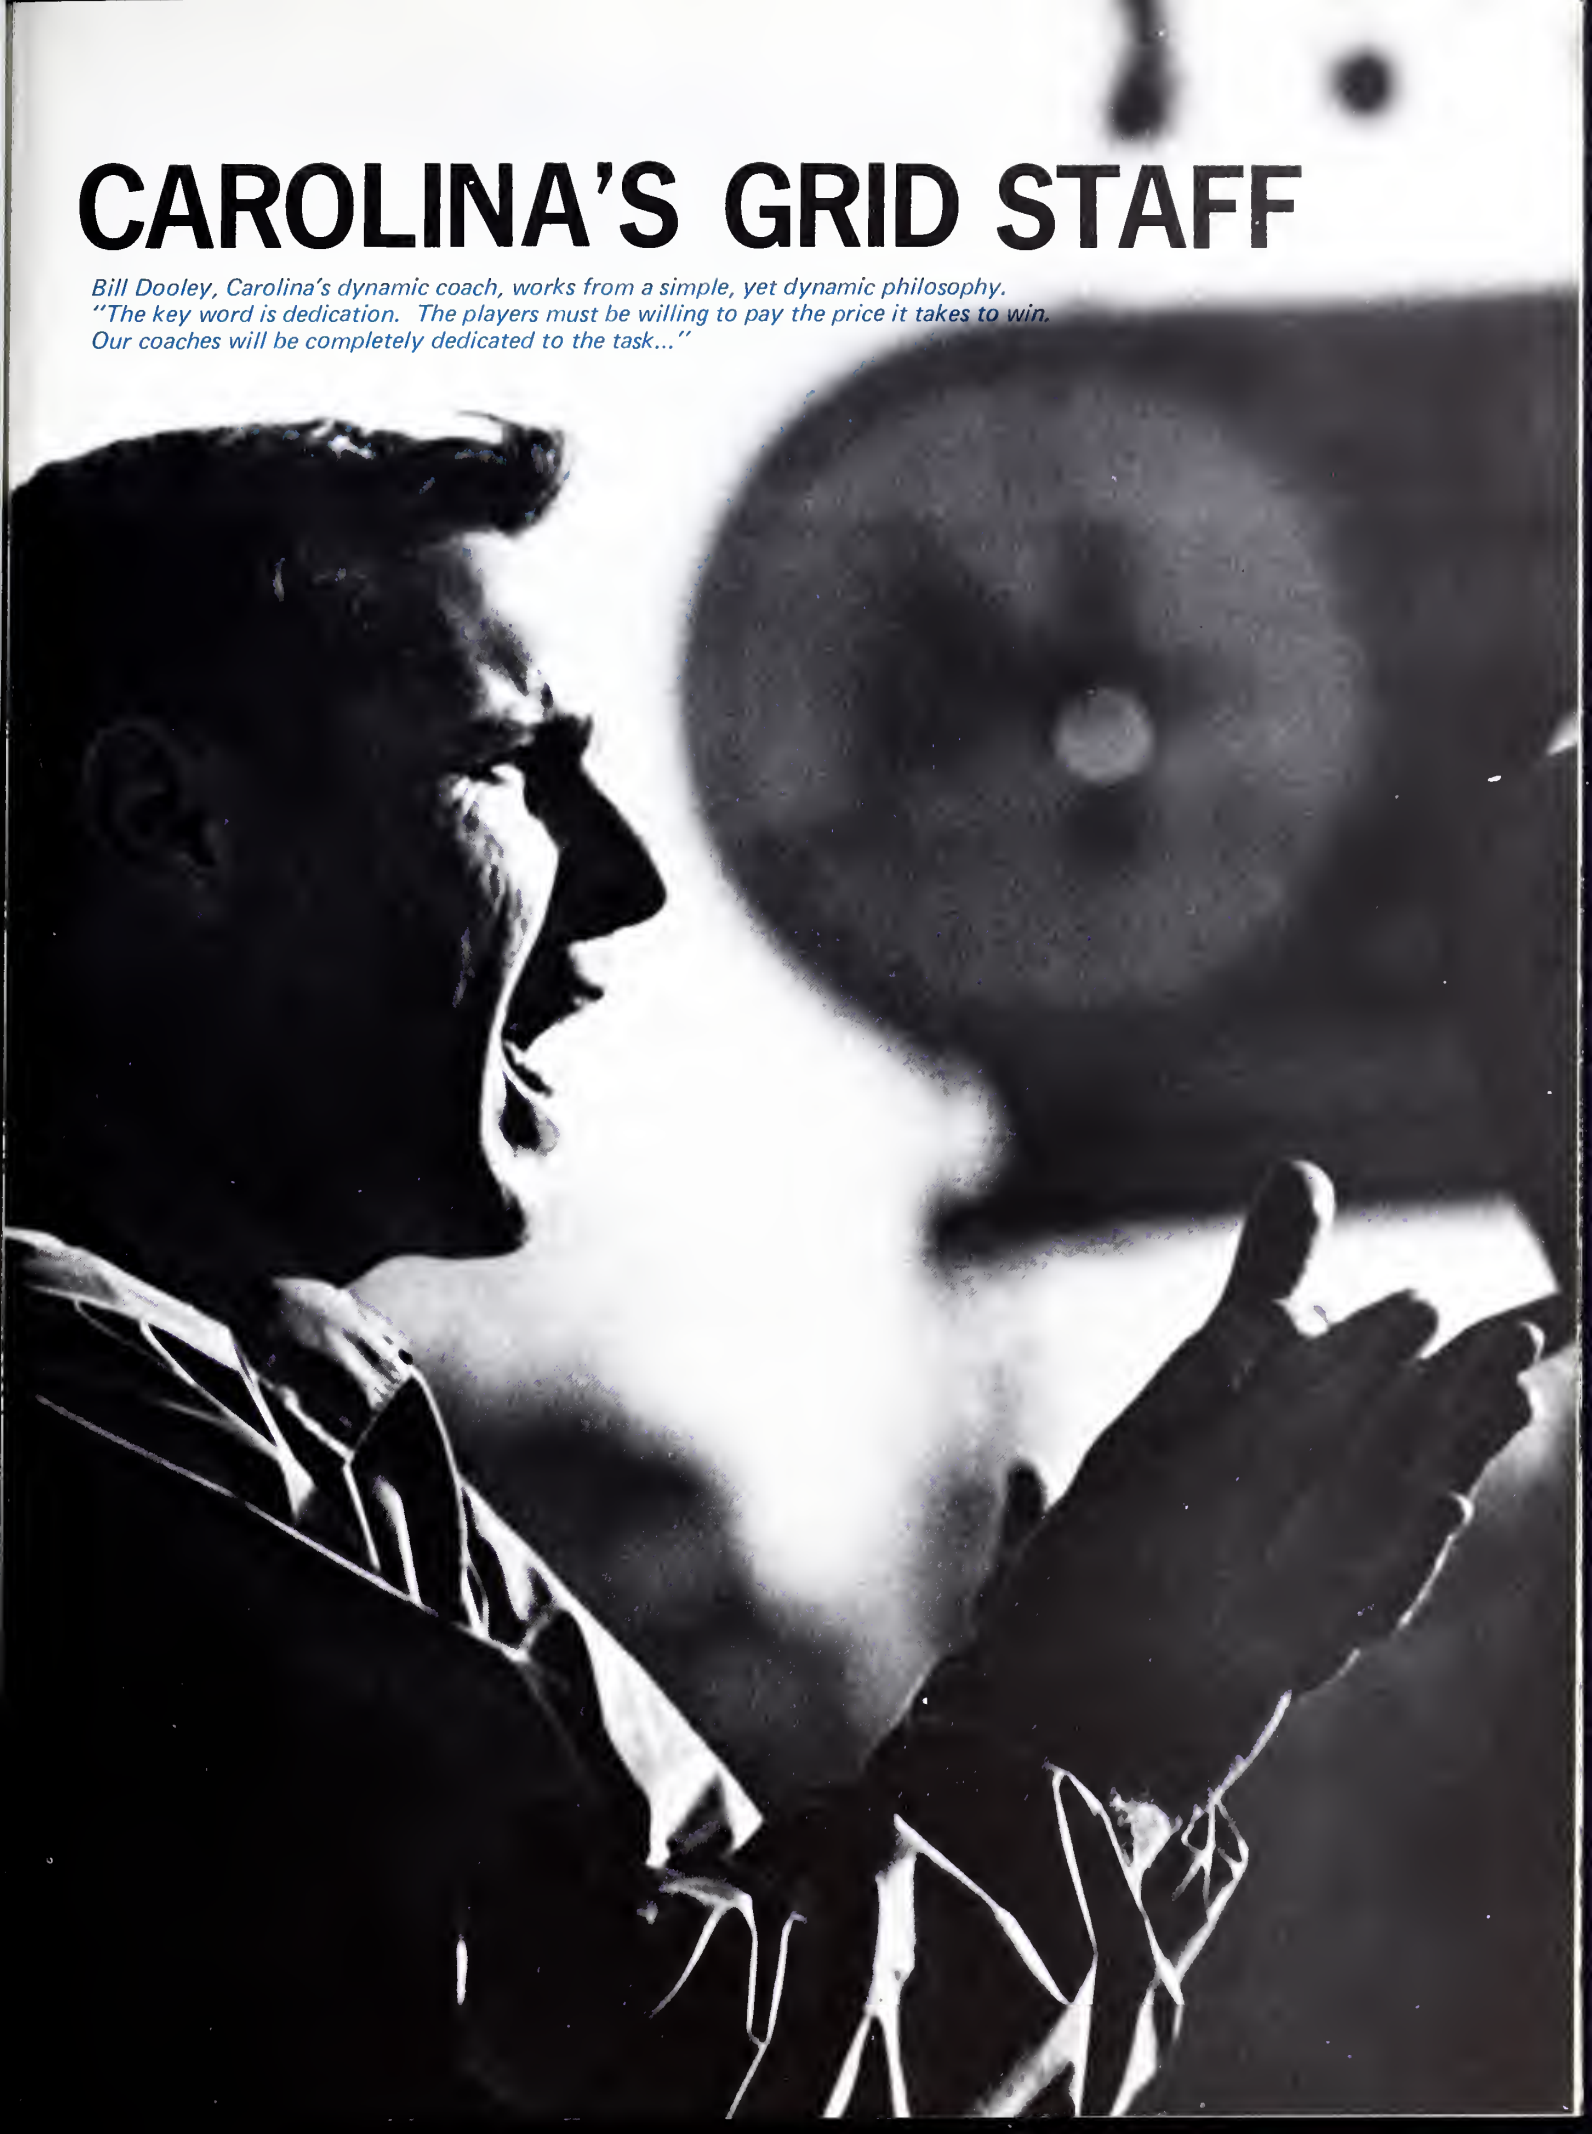
He received a Bachelor of Science degree in engineering and ventured away for a time to enter business. But Erickson had grown to love Chapel Hill and he came to stay in the early 1930's.

In his career at Carolina, he has done a little bit of everything. He's been a football and golf coach; assistant graduate manager of athletics; fund raiser; scout; and recruiter. In 1951, he succeeded the late Coach Bob Fetzer as athletic director.

Mr. Erickson is married to the former Mildred Wanell and they're extremely proud of their daughter, Susan, and a grandson who's two and a half years old.

CAROLINA'S GRID STAFF

Bill Dooley, Carolina's dynamic coach, works from a simple, yet dynamic philosophy. "The key word is dedication. The players must be willing to pay the price it takes to win. Our coaches will be completely dedicated to the task..."



HEAD COACH
Bill Dooley

Tar Heels everywhere are singing the praises of Bill Dooley, the dynamic, young man of action who begins his second season this fall as head football coach at Carolina.

It is safe to say that few people in the history of athletics here have made such an indelible impression in such a short length of time.

"I'm convinced Bill Dooley is a winner," says Chuck Erickson, the recently-retired Tar Heel athletic director. "If hard work is the answer, then he can't miss. That fellow stays on the move around the clock."

The fans second Chuck's motion. Everywhere Dooley travels around the state, he is greeted by Tar Heels who have rallied to his cause.

Strangely, Dooley gained the respect and support of these fans in a year when his football team won only two games. He warned the fans in advance that the first year would be very tough—and it was.

But the fans took a liking to Bill Dooley's brand of football. They admired the way he kept the team fighting in the face of superior odds. And they cheered like thunder when Dooley's Tar Heels stunned old rival Duke, 20-9, in the final game of the season.

Dooley turned out to be a different kind of coach from anyone who ever led the Tar Heels. Most coaches come to the big games dressed in a coat and tie. Dooley comes dressed for work and jogs on and off the field with his players before the games and at halftime.

Dooley was born to be a leader. "What I miss most is getting on my hands and knees and giving the players individual instruction," he says. "A head coach is busy directing the overall operation and has to leave that to the assistants. I miss it because that's the most fun of all—getting in the trenches with the men."

Bill Dooley is an old trench fighter from way back. A native of Mobile, Ala., he was an all-star guard at Mississippi State University. He made all-Southeastern Conference guard for the Bulldogs in two straight years and was chosen to play in the Shrine Bowl game at Miami, Fla.

The 34-year-old Dooley has been coaching for 12 years. For two seasons following his graduation from Mississippi State, he was line coach at that school.

He was elevated to head freshman coach in 1958 and held that job for three years under Wade Walker, a Gastonia native. His freshman teams never lost to State's arch-rival, the University of Mississippi.

Dooley went to George Washington in 1961 under former Tar Heel wingback Jim Camp. He stayed there for two seasons and then returned to Mississippi State in 1963, where as offensive line coach, he helped lead the Maroons into the Liberty Bowl game against North Carolina State.

When Vince Dooley was named Georgia's head coach in 1964, he immediately picked Bill as his chief offensive coach. The two brothers worked miracles in restoring Georgia to football prominence.

Dooley is proud of his job at Carolina and predicts a big future for Tar Heel teams. "My first year and a half on the job here have convinced me even more than ever that we will have a winning program at Carolina. I learned something last year that I didn't know before—that Carolina has the greatest fans in the country. And we received great support from the administration. Chancellor (Carlyle) Sitterson is a competitor. He is striving for excellence in the football program just like he does in other departments of the University."

There really are two Bill Dooleys. The disciplinarian who runs a tight football ship and the fun-loving fellow who delights in catching a big fish or hitting a good serve on the tennis court.

It is obvious even on a first meeting with him that Dooley is a man who believes strongly in discipline. "You have to have discipline in anything you do if you're going to be successful," he says. "I don't mean just football. I mean anything."

Anyone who has ever visited the Carolina football camp will tell you that Dooley's players have great respect for him. The coach is all business when he's on the field. His expression rarely ever changes. But as soon as the practice ends, he becomes a different man. He walks through the dressing room, chatting with players, patting them on the shoulder, offering words of encouragement or advice.

Football is not just his profession. It is is way of life. He has a fine memory of games and plays years ago and often recites them to his friends.

Then there is the other Bill Dooley, a gentlemen with a fine personality who mixes well with people from all walks of life. The coach laughs a lot, but usually at unpretentious people. Joke-tellers leave him cold and he can spot a phony in any crowd. Although he lives in a man's world, he talks easily with women. Most of them find him to be a good listener.

Dooley dresses in good taste. He has a preference for dark colors, but occasionally sports a bright sport coat. His favorite outfit seems to be the khacki trousers and Carolina tee shirt he wears when he goes fishing. He's an expert angler.

Dooley is a competitor even when the stakes are small or when there are no stakes at all. He gets fired up over a friendly game of tennis or handball, and doesn't like to lose. He is an excellent swimmer and enjoys water skiing and other water sports. He does not play golf.

The Carolina coach is married to the former Mary Christine (Chris) Paolucci, a lovely blonde from Rutland, Vt. They have two sons, Jim, 5, and Bill, 3.

WHAT SPORTS WRITERS AND FRIENDS SAY ABOUT COACH BILL DOOLEY

ELTON CASEY, sports editor, The Durham Morning Herald: "I like the guy. He shoots straight from the shoulder. No hanky-panky."

BILL BALLENGER, sports writer, The Charlotte News: "I knew the first minute I walked into his office that we were going to hit it off. I fired questions to him straight and I got straight answers."

RAY DISCHARRY, who coached Bill Dooley in high school at Mobile, Ala.: "He was the quiet one of the Dooley boys. I remember he used to keep me after practice to make me prove something to him. He tears everything apart to see why it does the way it does."

BILL CURRIE, Sports Director, WSOC-TV, Charlotte: "In his first press conference after he was named Carolina coach, Dooley must have mentioned the word dedication 15 or 20 times. When I got him on TV, I asked him what did he mean when he talked about a player being dedicated. He said a dedicated player was one who was willing to pay the price it takes to win. I thought it was a good answer and kinda summed up his philosophy about football."

GEORGE OLSON, general manager of the Gator Bowl: "Dooley will win–and big. I'd bet my next paycheck on it."

LEE RICHARDS, sports editor, The Pittston, (Pa.) Independent: "Coach Dooley is a very soft-spoken individual with class bursting out all over. When he left, I couldn't help but think, here's a guy with a great personality who possesses the one ingredient which distinguishes between a winner and a loser–pride."

EDNA TATUM, wife of the late Jim Tatum: "When he first came to Chapel Hill, Bill Dooley dropped by my home to speak with me. When he left I told some friends that he reminded me so much of Jim."

MICKEY MCCARTHY, assistant sports editor, The Atlanta Constitution: "I think of all the fellows who have coached in Georgia in recent years, he was one of the biggest favorites of the press. I count him as one of my finest friends in sports."

MORRIS MASON, longtime custodian of Kenan Fieldhouse: "I can assure you of one thing. His players will be in good shape. He's a mighty fine organizer."

FRANK HOWARD, Clemson coach: "I like old Dooley. He beats me in fishing and I beat him in football. That works out just fine."

DON SHEA, sports director, WTVD, Durham: "I like Coach Bill. He seems to appreciate my work and I appreciate what he's doing. We have a fine relationship."

GAYLE BOMAR, Carolina quarterback: "Everything was new last year and we were just getting our feet on the ground. The players really believe in Coach Dooley and I feel we're going to have a better season this fall."

TOM MCEWEN, sports editor, The Tampa (Fla.) Tribune: "He's a winner. I wouldn't be surprised if Dooley winds up as National Coach of the Year one of these seasons."

RONALD GREEN, sports editor, The Charlotte News: "The thing I like about Dooley is he's no Alibi Ike. He seems to accept victory or defeat in the same cool way."

Former UNC great, now with the San Francisco 49ers, is Ken Willard and his pretty wife, flanked by Chancellor Sitterson and Coach Dooley.

BOBBY COLLINS

HEAD OFFENSIVE COACH

Bobby Collins, chief of the Carolina offense, coaches football the same way he used to play it—with great drive and enthusiasm.

He was a 150-pound quarterback at Mississippi State on the same team with Bill Dooley. The two old teammates have been close friends for many years and now embark on their second season together at UNC.

Collins is a veteran of 13 years of coaching and has seen duty at Mississippi State, Colorado State, George Washington and Virginia Tech. He was head of the Virginia Tech defense in 1966 when the Techmen won a spot in the Liberty Bowl.

At Carolina, Collins directs the overall operation of the Carolina offense, but works primarily with the offensive backfield.

Bobby rates as one of the finest athletes on the new Tar Heel staff. He's a better-than-average golfer and plays a fast and snappy game of tennis.

He's married to the former Lynn Bass of Laurel, Miss., and they have three children, Kent, 13; Leisa, 10; and Jayme, 6.

Chief of the Carolina defense is big, likeable Lee Hayley, one of the best-known football strategists in the south.

A native of Birmingham, Ala., Hayley is a former all-Southeastern Conference end at Auburn and was captain of the Plainsmen in his senior season.

Following his graduation, he coached at McNeese State in Lake Charles, La., before returning to Auburn. He served as an assistant there for four years under Ralph (Shug) Jordan and was head of the Tiger Defense in 1966.

In his assignment on Bill Dooley's staff, Lee serves as head of the defense and devotes primary attention to the ends and linebackers.

Always friendly, he has made many friends in the Chapel Hill community. And he is popular with the Tar Heel players.

Hayley is married to the former Floyd Redd of Foley, Ala., and they have two sons, Tom, 13, and Dick, 11.

LEE HAYLEY

HEAD DEFENSIVE COACH

JIM VICKERS

OFFENSIVE LINE COACH

Jim Vickers learned his football in the school of hard knocks as a standout end at the University of Georgia. And now he applies the knowledge as offensive line coach of the Tar Heels.

A native of Omega, Ga., Jim attended school in Moultrie, Ga., and starred on Georgia's 1959 Southeastern Conference championship team.

He coached the Georgia freshman team in 1960 and was an assistant coach for three seasons at Presbyterian College. Then Jim worked for two seasons at the University of South Carolina before coming to Chapel Hill.

Jim is a diligent worker who's tough on the football field, but an easy-going gentleman off the field.

He's a bachelor and takes a ribbing from the married fellows on the Tar Heel staff.

Jim Carmody, who built a reputation as one of the finest young coaches in the Southeastern Conference, now begins his second season as line coach of the Tar Heels.

He came to Carolina from Mississippi State where he worked for three seasons under Paul Davis. He has been called by Davis "one of the best young coaches in America."

The former star center at Tulane also saw coaching duty at Holy Cross High in New Orleans.

Carmody thinks football most of the time, but he does enjoy a game of golf when he has a day off. His score in that sport has improved greatly during the past year.

Jim is married to the former Earlyn Regouffre of New Orleans and they have four sons, Stephen, 7; Brian, 6; Keith, 4; and Chris, 3.

JIM CARMODY

DEFENSIVE LINE COACH

Vic Spooner, who coaches Carolina's offensive ends, has a reputation as one of the top football minds in the south.

A former coaching colleague of Bill Dooley at Mississippi State, Vic worked for five years at Starkville, three of them as head of the Mississippi State defense.

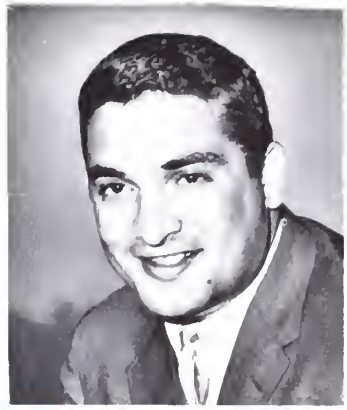
The Colquitt, Ga., native attended Texas Tech and was an all-star end in football. He later coached at Presbyterian College before going to Mississippi State.

Spooner, a popular figure on the Tar Heel campus, spends much of his spare time fishing. He's an expert angler.

Vic is married to the former Katherine Andrews of Silver Springs, Md., and they have four children, Vic, 8; Roxane, 6; Katherine, 4; and James, 2.

VIC SPOONER

OFFENSIVE END COACH



HEAD FRESHMAN COACH

RON DEMELFI

Ron DeMelfi, former star footballer at George Washington University, moves into a new position with the Tar Heels this season as head coach of the freshman team.

He came to Carolina last year from George Washington where he was an assistant coach for three years under former Carolina standout, Jim Camp.

Before that, Ron had been head coach at Central Dauphin High in Harrisburg, Pa.

The native of Berwick, Pa., played center at George Washington and was so outstanding that he won the Andy Davis award as the top Colonial player in his senior season.

DeMelfi has taken an active interest in golf in recent years and his score has improved steadily.

He is married to the former Susan Hayhurst of Bloomsburg, Pa. They are a popular couple on the Tar Heel scene.

Billy Hickman is the "Bob Hope" of the Carolina football staff, a gentleman with a great sense of humor and a quick quip for every occasion.

He's also an outstanding football coach. He has coached at Virginia, Duke, North Carolina State, Vanderbilt and Carolina in a 19-year career. He came to Carolina last season from Vandy where he was head of the Commodore defense.

The Baltimore, Md., native attended the University of Virginia and excelled in football as a halfback and star punter.

Billy made many friends in North Carolina when he coached at N. C. State and Duke. But he has added many new ones to the list since he came to Chapel Hill.

Hickman's assignment is with the Tar Heel defensive secondary.

He is married to the former Dorothy McGee of Baltimore and they have two children, Kurt, 13; and Kim, 7.

BILLY HICKMAN

DEFENSIVE BACKFIELD COACH

CLYDE WALKER

CHIEF RECRUITER

One of the all-time outstanding high school coaches in North Carolina, Clyde Walker has moved into the college ranks with the same type of success.

As chief recruiter of the Tar Heels, Walker enjoyed great success in his first season on the job. Coach Bill Dooley says he is well pleased with the incoming group of student-athletes.

Clyde serves in a dual capacity in the Carolina football office. In addition to his recruiting duties, he is administrative assistant to Coach Dooley.

A native of Currituck County, Walker attended high school in Norfolk, Va., and then attended Catawba College. He coached briefly at Walnut Cove before moving to Raleigh's Needham Broughton.

He served at the Raleigh school for 12 years and in his final season there his team swept the Eastern 4-A championship.

Clyde is married to the former Ruby Wilkerson of Marion and they have three children, Ginger, 15; Clyde, Jr., 13; and Kim, 10.

MOYER SMITH

B TEAM COACH

Moyer Smith, who was Mr. Hustle on the Carolina football teams of the late 1950s, now displays the same type of determination as a Tar Heel assistant coach.

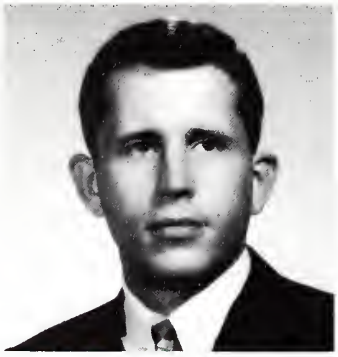
In his job on Bill Dooley's staff, he serves as B team coach.

Moyer coached for six seasons in high school circles at Winston-Salem Reynolds, Albemarle and Lexington, his hometown. He was the head coach at Albemarle and an assistant at the other schools. He joined the Tar Heel staff last year.

Smith was a star halfback at Carolina under the late Jim Tatum. He built a reputation as one of the most spirited players on the squad.

Moyer still is quite an athlete. He regularly plays tennis and golf.

He is married to the former Jane Webster and they have two sons, Moyer Jr., 5; and Brent, 3.



BILL COLBY

ACADEMIC COUNSELOR

Newest member of the Carolina football staff is William W. (Bill) Colby, Jr., son of the University of Maryland athletic director. He will serve as academic counselor, keeping tabs on the schoolroom progress of the Tar Heel players.

Colby comes to Carolina from West Mifflin, Pa., High School where he was a member of the physical education staff under the graduate teaching internship program at the University of Pittsburgh.

The 28-year-old Colby attended Emory University, the Harvard Summer School, the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Pittsburgh. He received a Masters degree in Business at Pittsburgh this summer.

Colby is married and is the father of two girls, one who is two years old and the other an infant.

JOHN LACEY: Trainer of Champions

John Lacey, starting his 13th season as head athletic trainer at Carolina, ranks as one of the nation's most respected men in his field.

He is truly a trainer of champions and has the record to prove it.

Lacey has trained three national championship teams and four football teams which played in bowl games. Another highlight of his career came in 1964 when he trained the U.S. Olympic basketball team which beat Russia in the championship finals at Tokyo.

John was introduced to Carolina sports by the late Jim Tatum, who worked closely with Lacey at Maryland. While at Maryland, Lacey trained the football and lacrosse teams which won national championships. At Carolina, he helped the 1957 basketball team win a similar honor.

Lacey trained three football bowl teams at Maryland, clubs which played twice in the Orange Bowl and once in the Sugar Bowl. At Carolina, he was with the Tar Heels in the 1963 Gator Bowl.

His background also includes a stint as trainer for three professional teams—the Chicago Rockets, New York Yankees and Baltimore Colts.

John attended high school at his hometown, Wallingford, Conn., and prepped at Tifton Academy and at the Junior College of Therapy at New Haven. He also was a student in the Yale University Department of Health.

Lacey is married to the former Barbara Koch of Wallingford.

Morris Mason

Outfitter of every Carolina football player for forty-one years

Morris Mason is as much a part of the Carolina scene as Kenan Stadium or The Old Well. He's been a Tar Heel for 41 years and is still going strong.

As the custodian of Kenan Fieldhouse, Morris has outfitted every Carolina footballer since Sept. 1, 1927. Many of the former players showed their affection for Morris last winter by presenting him with a new automobile. The presentation made big news in all of the state papers.

It is Mason's job to see that all equipment is in first class condition. On the road, he has the important job of packing and accounting for all uniforms and game-day essentials.

Morris has worked under nine head football coaches. He predicts a big future for the present coach, Bill Dooley. "Coach Dooley has everything well organized," Morris says, "and I'm sure he's going to win big."

A highlight of every football season is Morris' oratory. It is his special talent. Whenever former football players gather, they always call on Morris for a speech. He never lets them down.

PROSPECTUS:

Bill Dooley's second season in an extensive rebuilding campaign brings renewed optimism in the Carolina football camp.

North Carolina's Tar Heels will launch the second season of Bill Dooley's rebuilding program with new hope . . . but some of the same old problems.

Everyone in the Carolina camp, from Dooley to the waterboy, firmly believes that the Tar Heels will field an improved team. Optimism reigned throughout a spirited spring practice.

But there's no hiding the fact that there are problems. The two main ones are a serious lack of depth and the fact that the Tar Heels will be playing many inexperienced men.

"There is a good chance that about half of our first 30 players will be true sophomores," Dooley said. "These players should show gradual improvement as the season progresses, but they're going to be awfully green at the start."

Carolina won only two of 10 games last season, but finished in a blaze of glory with a 20-9 upset win over arch-rival Duke. It is hoped that victory will have some carry-over value in the new campaign.

"I have no doubts that we're going to be an improved team," Dooley says. "For one thing, the players who return from last year's squad will have the advantage of a season's experience under a new system. And we do have some fine new players coming up from our freshman team.

"But this doesn't necessarily mean that our record will be a whole lot better. I think the Atlantic Coast Conference, as a whole, is going to be a much tougher league with better balance from the top to the bottom."

There are 27 lettermen in the Tar Heel camp, but the figure is very misleading. Two of them are kicking specialists and many players, who actually saw only limited service, were awarded monograms.

Some of the best players on the 1967 squad graduated. This list includes defensive halfback Jack Davenport, voted the team's Most Valuable Player; halfback Dave Riggs; quarterback Jeff Beaver; end Charlie Carr; tackle Tom Ingle; guard Lou Pukal; tackle Jim Masino; and linebacker Mike Horvat.

There is some sparkling talent among the returnees. Some of the best are quarterback Gayle Bomar, halfbacks Saulis Zemaitis and Dick Wesolowski, fullback Tommy Dempsey, guards Ed Chalupka and Battle Wall, tackles Mike Smith and Mike Richey, and end Peter Davis.

At this stage, five players, Bomar, Dempsey, Chalupka, Davis and Smith, appear to be the Tar Heels' top all-star candidates.

Bomar was one of the conference's better players last fall, running and passing for a total of 1,402 yards. He is a left-handed quarterback who rates as an exceptional runner and an adequate passer.

Davis led the Tar Heels in pass catching in 1967, hauling in 30 for 338 yards and two touchdowns. The lean flankman from Clarksville, Va., also rates as an outstanding blocker.

Dempsey crashed for 501 yards from the fullback post post year, averaging 3.9 yards a carry. Tar Heel coaches rate him a blue chip performer and predict he'll have an outstanding senior season.

Smith, a 235-pounder from Wheeling, West Va., came on strong at the end of last season and could be one of the ACC's better defenders.

Then there's Chalupka, the hard-smashing offensive guard from Canada. He may be the best blocker on the Tar Heel squad. A fierce competitor, he's sure to be one of the best players in the league.

At quarterback, Bomar will be backed up by sophomores Johnny Swofford and Ricky Lanier. Those two are battling for the No. 2 spot and Swofford appeared to hold a slight edge at the end of spring practice.

Another sophomore, Bucky Perry is operating behind Dempsey at fullback. He shows fine promise.

Wesolowski and Zemaitis give the Tar Heels two veterans at halfback. But a sophomore, Don McCauley, is fighting for a starting job. He led the freshmen last season with 705 yards and an average of 4.6 a carry. The 195-pounder from Garden City, N. Y., was voted best defensive player in the spring Blue-White game. Bill Dodson will see action at wingback.

On the offensive line, there'll be some new faces. Davis appears set at split end, and sophomore Tony Blanchard, son of the famed Doc Blanchard, could win the starting job at tight end. Tony packs 233 pounds on a 6-3 frame and shows promise of becoming a Tar Heel star.

Veterans Ev Cowan and Mike Richey are the leaders at offensive tackle and Chalupka is set at one guard. But the other guard post is wide open with sophomores Paul Hoolahan, Jim Papai and Joe Jansen the leading candidates.

Chip Bradley started at center the past two seasons, but is being pushed for the No. 1 job now by newcomer Keith Hicks of Fairfax, Va.

The defensive end positions still are a question mark. Veterans Tom Cantrell and Tim Karrs are the leading candidates. Ron Lowry, who played at defensive halfback a year ago, has been switched to defensive end.

Smith will start at one tackle spot. Neil Rogers is another veteran at tackle, but he's being pushed for the job by Ron Grzybowski, a sophomore from Shamokin, Pa.

Battle Wall is a returning starter at guard and Mike Hollifield and Tom Renedo saw much action there last season. Best of the newcomers is Flip Ray, a 240-pounder who was injured and missed much of the spring practice.

Bob Hanna and Mark Mazza return as linebackers. Hanna, a hustler from McKeesport, Pa., was voted the top defensive player in the spring Blue-White game. Two highly promising newcomers are sophs Bill Richardson of Annandale, Va., and Larry Pochucha of Fairfax, Va.

Ken Price returns to the safety position and should have a fine season. John Harris and Dave Jackson, who saw some action, also return. Jim Griffith, a transfer from the Naval Academy, looks like the best of the newcomers in the defensive backfield along with Rusty Ross.

Chip Stone, who averaged 35.8 yards a kick last year, should be the leading punter. And Don Hartig, another specialist, once again will handle the kick-offs and extra points.

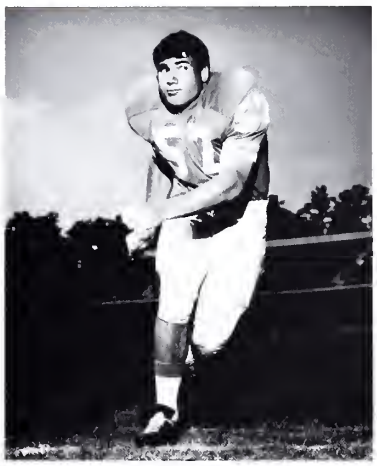
BOB WILTSHIRE (57), 5-9, 188, 19, Junior, Richmond, Va.—Smallest tackle on Tar Heel roster . . . Was a red-shirt last season . . . Doesn't have the experience to figure big in Tar Heel plans this fall.

57 DT



CURTIS WYNN (68), 6-0, 195, 21, Junior, Natrona Heights, Pa.—Now playing his fourth position for Tar Heels . . . Was a halfback for freshmen and red shirt fullback in 1966 . . . Saw some action at guard last season . . . Filled in at fullback in victory over Duke and made a key run for first down to keep UNC drive alive.

68 DT

CHIP BRADLEY (51), 5-11, 208, 21, Senior, Asheville, N.C.—A two-year starter for Tar Heels . . . Has been dependable at position . . . He's a crisp blocker . . . Has good attitude and coaches expect him to have fine senior campaign.

51 C

53 C

KEITH HICKS (53), 6-0, 204, 19, Sophomore, Fairfax, Va.—A big star in Virginia high school circles two years ago . . . One of most prominent members of frosh team last fall . . . Had an outstanding spring practice and will be a candidate for starting job.

52 C

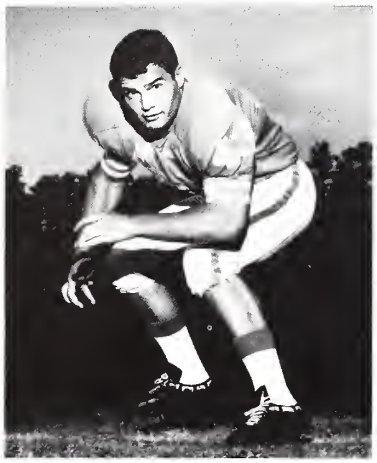
NED SPARKS (52), 6-1, 200, 21, Senior, Bethesda, Md.—Backup man at center spot for two seasons . . . Always hustles and coaches rate him as a dependable performer . . . He's battling for a starting job this time.

55 LB

BOB HANNA (55), 6-0, 189, 20, Junior, McKeesport, Pa.—Voted top defensive player in annual Blue-White spring game . . . Was a key defender for Tar Heels last fall . . . One of toughest players on squad . . . Likes to hit . . . Had a brief try at offensive end but was rated too valuable on defense.

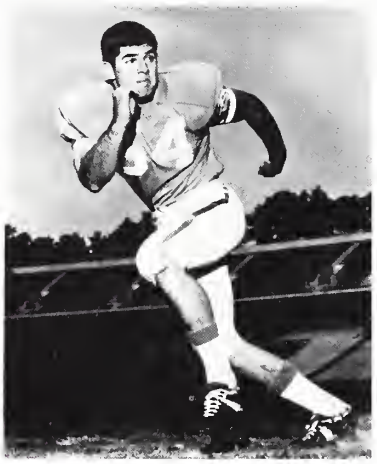
MARK MAZZA (43), 5-10, 202, 21, Senior, Dundas, Ont.—A year of experience at linebacking post should make him very valuable member of squad . . . Was starter at fullback in sophomore season . . . Good all-around athlete who likes to hit . . . One of most personable fellows on squad.

43 LB



LARRY POCHUCHA (54), 6-1, 190, 19, Sophomore, Fairfax, Va.—Rated finest prospect in Washington, D.C. area two years ago . . . Had outstanding year for freshmen last fall . . . Injuries slowed him down in spring, but he now appears set to go at full speed . . . Could have big future here.

54 L

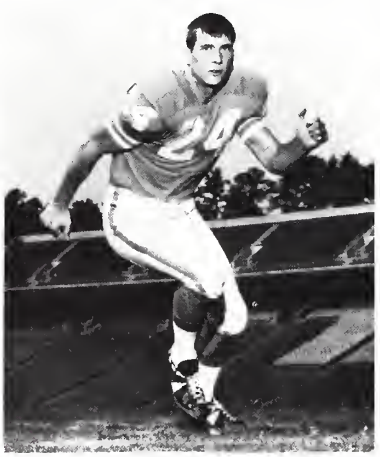


BILL RICHARDSON (56), 6-0, 207, 19, Sophomore, Annandale, Va.—One of top surprises in spring practice . . . Coaches were impressed with his hard-hitting in scrimmages . . . A key performer on last year's frosh team . . . A contender for a starting position.

56 L

21 DB

JIM GRIFFITH (21), 5-11, 169, 20, Sophomore, Quakertown, Pa.—A transfer student from the Naval Academy . . . Was a member of red-shirt squad last fall . . . He's exceptionally fast and shifty . . . Coaches think he has a chance to be future star despite his small size.



24 DB

JOHN HARRIS (24), 5-11, 186, 21, Junior, Roxboro, N.C.—A fine high school quarterback at Roxboro . . . Moved to defense by new coaching staff last fall . . .Was injured much of season . . . Has good football savvy and could see a lot of action.

48

DAVID JACKSON (48), 5-10, 181, 20, Junior, Jacksonville, Fla.—Saw much action last fall . . . Always a willing worker, he will be counted on this fall . . . Has added some weight since last season.

KEN PRICE (10), 6-1, 180, 19, Junior, Erwin, N.C.—Was No. 1 quarterback on 1966 freshman team until he was injured . . . Shifted to defense by new coaching staff . . . Had a fine season last fall and should be better with a year of experience . . . He's an elusive runner

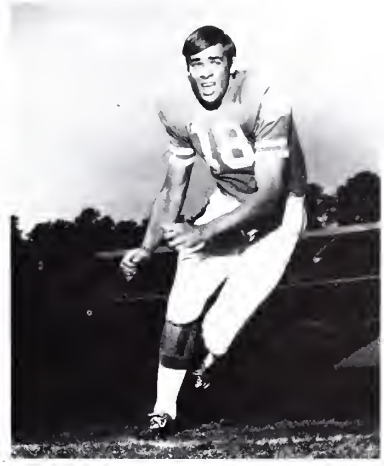
10 DB

RUSTY ROSS (29), 6-0, 182, 19, Sophomore, Fairfax, Va.—A leading player with last year's freshman team . . . Had an outstanding high school record . . . He's one of sophomores who will play right off the bat . . Coaches like his attitude.

29 DB

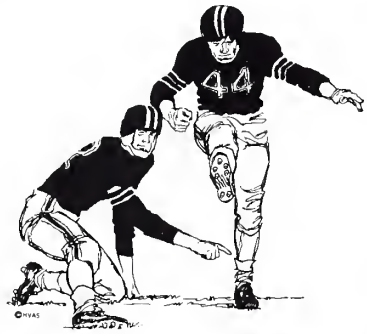
MIKE HIPPS (18), 6-0, 185, 19, Sophomore, Greensboro, N.C.—A star quarterback as a high schooler in Greensboro . . . Shifted to defensive backfield at UNC last year . . . Injury forced him out of action as a freshman here . . . Shows fine promise for future.

18 DB



CHIP STONE (33), 6-4, 210, 22, Senior, Lumberton, N.C.—Punted 55 times for UNC last fall, averaging 35.8 a boot . . . Gets the ball high into the air usually . . . A star baseballer, he pitched a no hitter for UNC last spring against Virginia . . . Expected to do most of punting again this campaign.

33 KS



DON HARTIG (39), 6-0, 210, 22, Senior, Greensboro, N.C.—Ranked as second leading scorer on last year's club with 22 points . . . Converted 10 of 11 extra point attempts and booted four field goals . . . Son of former Tar Heel star . . . Was a fine all-around player in high school, but injuries slowed him down.

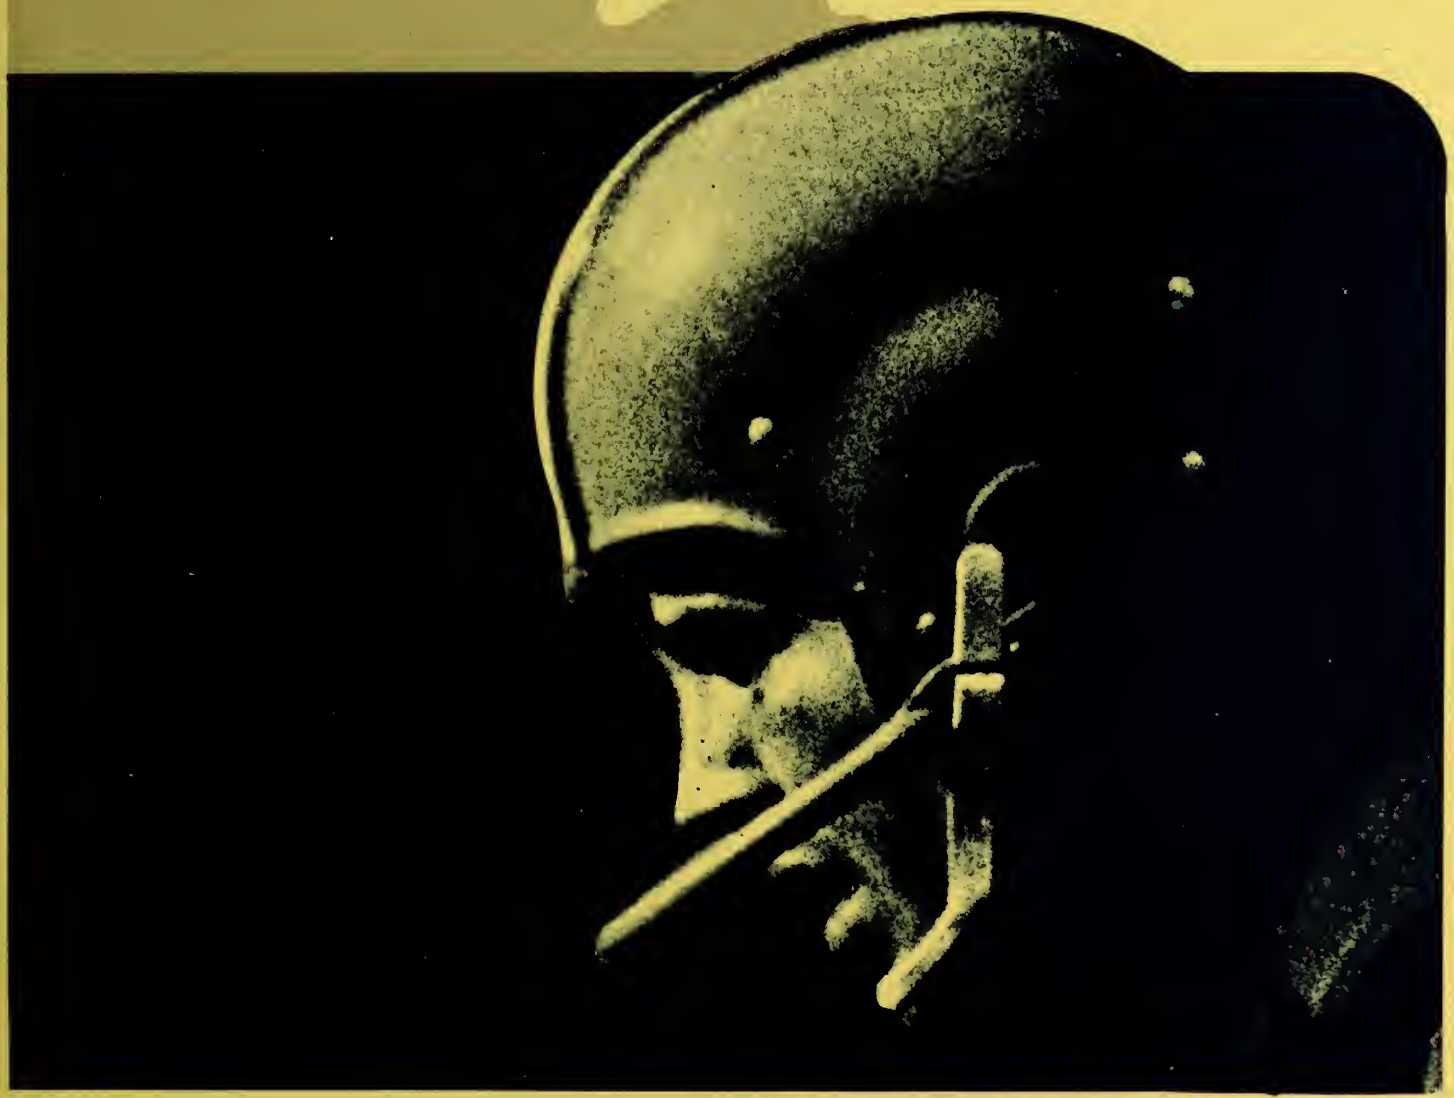
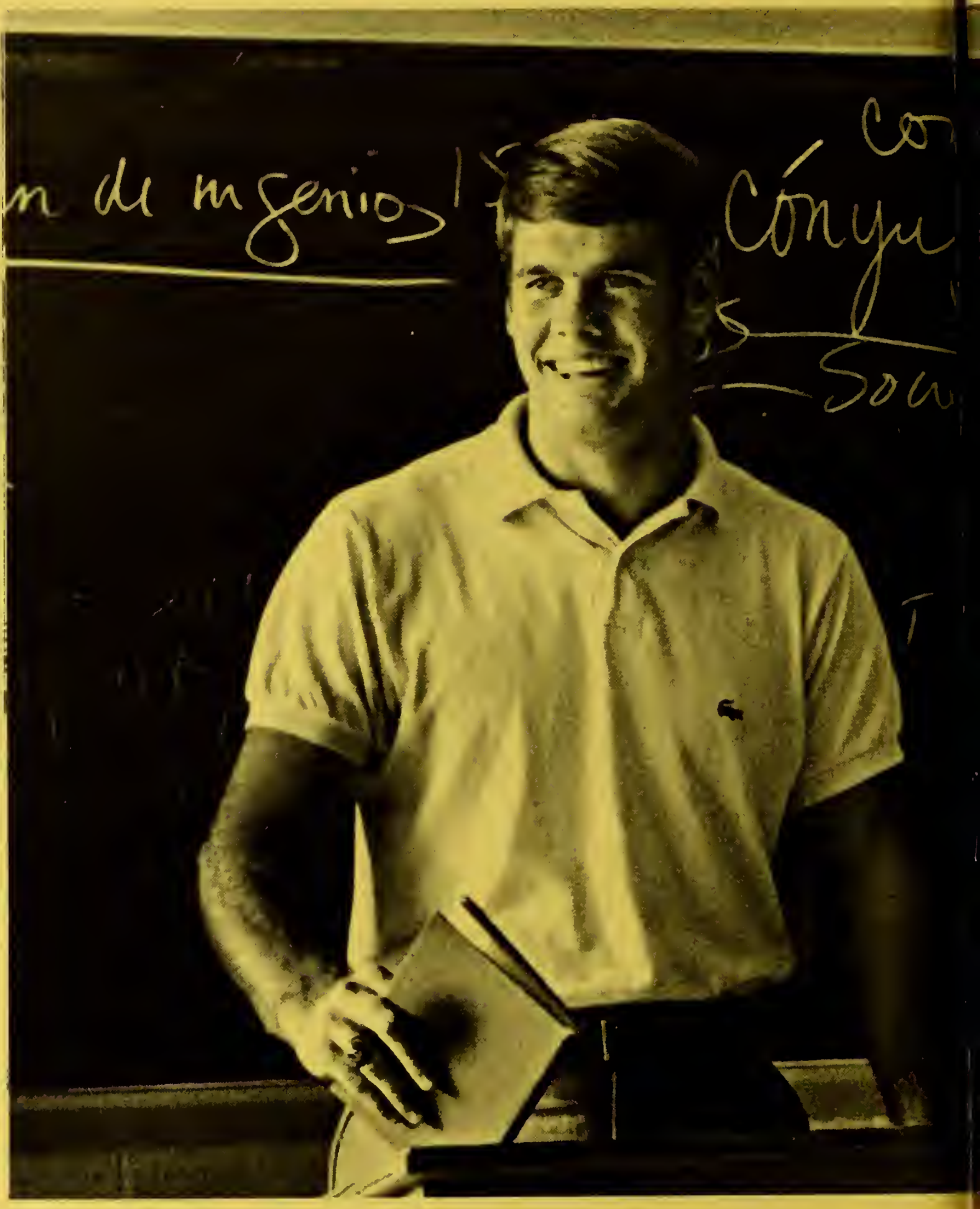
BEING A FOOTBALL PLAYER AT CAROLINA IS...



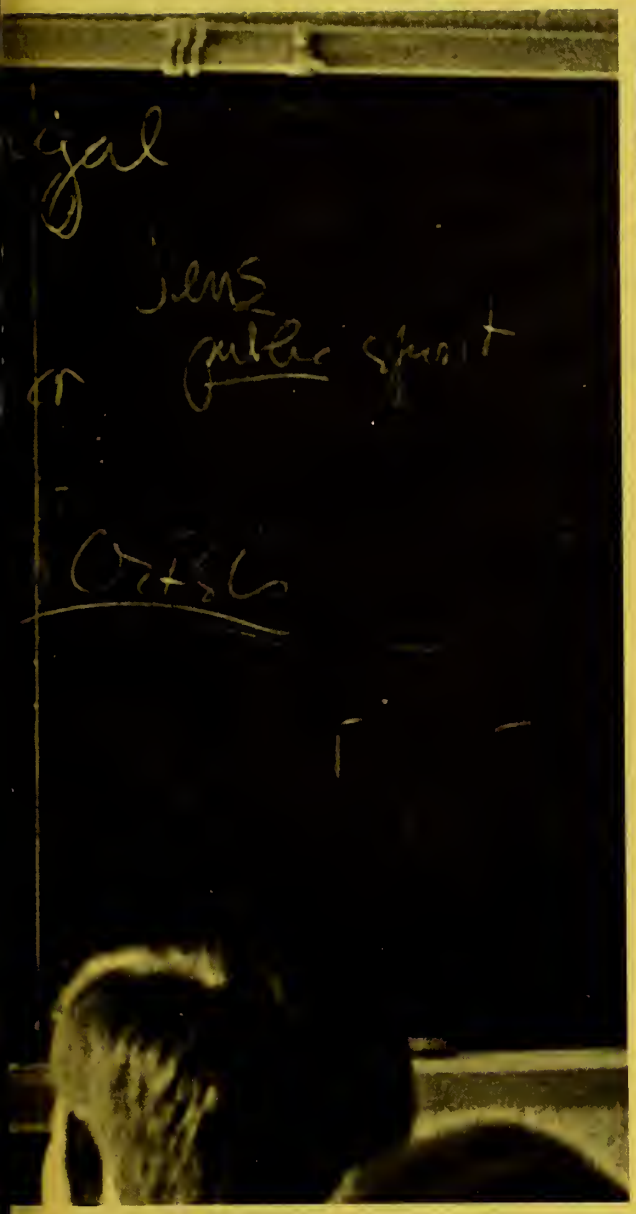
BEGINNING A CAREER- Senior guard Battle Wall of Wadesboro studies an exhibit at the famous Morehead Planatarium, where the astronauts train.

DATING A CAROLINA COED- Center Chip Bradley of Asheville, N.C., takes a stroll on the scenic University campus with lovely Kay Eisiminger of Winston-Salem, N.C.



BEING IN THE TOTALITY OF

DEVELOPING LIFELONG FRIENDSHIPS- There's always a dog on hand for any picture on the Carolina campus. This one relaxes near the Old Well with five Tar Heel footballers. (L-R) Tackle Mike Richey of Charlotte, N.C., Quarterback Gayle Bomar of Grand Rapids, Mich., Guard Battle Wall of Wadesboro, N.C., Center Chip Bradley of Asheville, N.C., and End Peter Davis of Clarksville, Va.



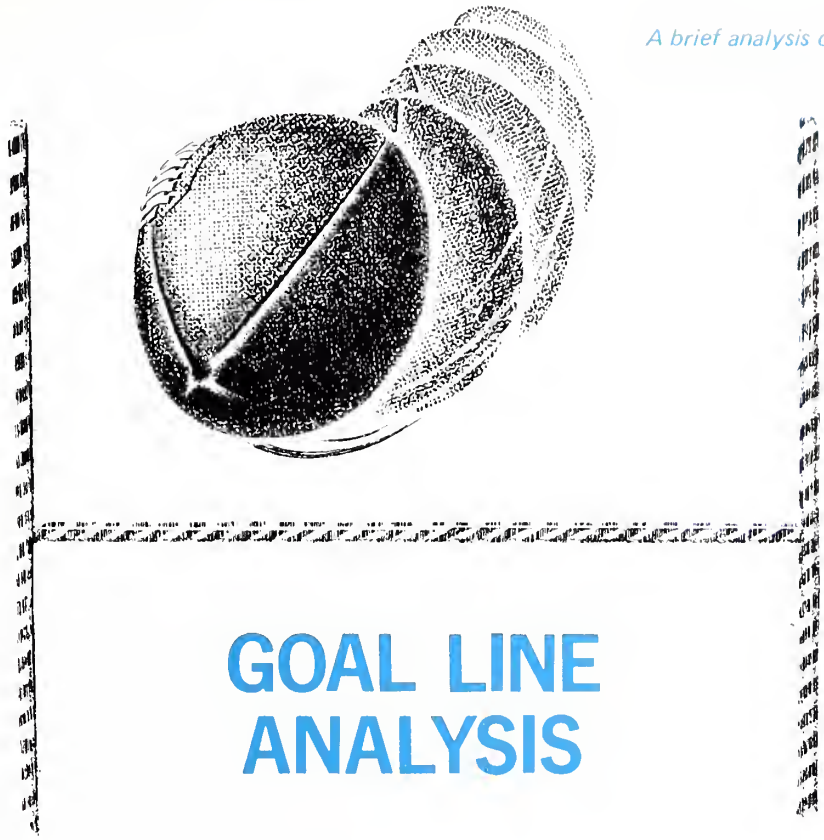
NURTURING RELIGIOUS INTERESTS- Senior End Peter Davis waits for a friend before entering the Chapel of the Cross Episcopal Church, one of the many beautiful churches in the town of Chapel Hill.

PURSUING EDUCATIONAL GOALS- Quarterback Gayle Bomar lectures during a class in the School of Romance Languages. Carolina has 14 schools and colleges, including more than 70 departments and numerous other divisions.

UNIVERSITY LIFE

EXCELLENCE IN PERFORMANCE- Coach Bill Dooley presents The Chuck Erickson Award to Halfback Dick Wesolowski of Hamilton, Ont., at last spring's Blue-White game. The award goes to the top hustler of spring practice.

A brief analysis of Carolina's strengths and weaknesses, position by position.



GOAL LINE ANALYSIS

OFFENSE		DEFENSE
There are some exciting players at these positions, including two fellows named Davis and Blanchard. Peter Davis, a sparkling senior, should be a team leader at split end. He caught 30 passes last season. Tony Blanchard, son of famed Doc, likely will start at tight end. Steve Alvis, Gary Kuzyk and Bob Schult are others who should see action.	Ends	These positions could cause some problems. Tim Karrs and Tom Cantrell appear to be the leading bets as starters. Karrs moved over from quarterback last season and Cantrell was shifted to the defense after starting at tight end on offense last fall. Ron Lowry, converted from the defensive backfield, will see action.
There is some experience at these positions. Mike Richey, Ev Cowan and Steve Burdulis all saw action last fall and return for another campaign. Angelo Raffin and Ron Massari are sophomores who show some promise. The positions should be adequate if everyone stays healthy.	Tackles	Mike Smith could turn out to be one of the top defensive tackles in the ACC. He's big and quick. Neil Rogers is another veteran, but he's being pushed for a starting job by a sophomore named Ron Grzybowski. Coach Jim Carmody feels the Tar Heels have a chance to show improvement at these positions.
Line Coach Jim Vickers feels that Canadian Ed Chalupka will be one of the top linemen in the South. Chalupka had a good season last fall and should be even better with a year's experience under his belt. At the other guard post the accent will be on youth with three sophomores, Jim Papai, Joe Jansen and Paul Hoolahan, battling for the starting job.	Guards	The addition of Flip Ray, a highly-promising sophomore, should give the Tar Heels a boost at these posts. He was injured in the spring, but will be ready when fall practice opens. Battle Wall and Mike Hollifield played well last fall and Tom Renado has seen action here the past two campaigns. The positions show real promise.
This is one position where the Tar Heels appear to have more depth than a year ago. Chip Bradley, a two-year starter, returns for his senior season and so does his top replacement of a year ago, Ned Sparks. A sophomore, Keith Hicks, will battle both of them for the starting job. This position certainly should be adequate.	Centers	The strength of these linebacking posts will be determined by how well a couple of sophomores perform. The coaches have high hopes for the newcomers, Larry Pochucha and Bill Richardson. The leaders in spring practice, however, were two veterans, Mark Mazza and Bob Hanna. Hanna, in fact, played so well in the spring game that he was voted the top defensive star of the day.
The return of three starters, quarterback Gayle Bomar, fullback Tommy Dempsey and wingback Dick Wesolowski should make these positions improved. Tailback Saulis Zemaitis also returns and that post is bolstered by the addition of a fine soph, Don McCauley. Johnny Swofford and Ricky Lanier, two sophs, are backing up Bomar at quarterback.	Backs	Coach Billy Hickman hopes for improvement at these positions. Safety Ken Price appears headed for a fine season. John Harris and Dave Jackson, who saw action last year, return to the defensive backfield. Then there's Jim Griffith, a transfer from the Naval Academy, who looks like a winner. Rusty Ross is another good sophomore.

Carolina is noted for its rugged football schedules---and 1968 is certainly no exception. The Tar Heels meet all seven Atlantic Coast Conference rivals and three tough outsiders, Vanderbilt, Florida and Air Force Academy. It opens with North Carolina State and closes with Duke...and those games always spell magic.

Here's the OPPOSITION

1967 CONFERENCE RECORD: Won 5, lost 1, tied 0.
1967 OVERALL RECORD: Won 9, lost 2, tied 0.

Outlook

The Wolfpack has to replace 17 starters from its Liberty Bowl championship squad of 1967. Coach Earle Edwards must rebuild both lines, replace the entire secondary, and find a quarterback to give the effective leadership provided by Jim Donnan. Two losses were all-Americas Dennis Byrd and Fred Combs.

The Pack should have a speedy backfield, headed by quarterback Jack Klebe, with Bobby Hall, Charlie Bowers, Leon Mason and Jim Hardin all fine runners. Fullback Settle Dockery is a good blocker.

State has 25 lettermen back. End Mark Capuano, tackle Ron Carpenter, linebacker Mike Hilka and safety Gary Yount spearhead the defense, while center Carey Metts, guard Don Jordan and end Wayne Lewis are the top offensive linemen. State has the nation's premium field goal kicker in Gerald Warren, who set an NCAA record with 17 a year ago.

1967 CONFERENCE RECORD: Won 4, lost 2, tied 0
1967 OVERALL RECORD: Won 5, lost 5, tied 0

Outlook

The Gamecocks will have more talent and less experience in 1968. Six of seven conference games on the road presents something of a problem. Fullback Warren Muir is called "the best inside runner in the United States" by Coach Paul Dietzel but the quarterbacks are inexperienced. However, Tommy Suggs and Randy Yoakum have excellent potential. The two tackles, one linebacker and one defensive back were lost from last year's defense, but there are promising newcomers as replacements. The biggest problem appears to be the interior offensive line which was hit hard by graduation and injuries. How well some newcomers adjust at tackle, guard and center could be the key to Gamecock fortunes.

1967 CONFERENCE RECORD: Won 0, lost 6, tied 0
1967 OVERALL RECORD: Won 2, lost 7, tied 1

Outlook The Commodores look to be somewhat quicker and faster than last season, but the depth problem still will have to be met. The season opener will find the Commodores without a quarterback who has ever taken a snap in a varsity football game. The defense should be the strong point of the club with only three regulars among the missing. Linebacking looks to be the strong suite of the squad with the offensive line a question mark. The running game will be improved while the passing will be adequate. The attack will be more balanced than last season.

1967 OVERALL RECORD: Won 0, lost 9, tied 0

Outlook Return of Quarterback Alan Pastrana who set ACC record with 17 TD passes in 1966 is the most hopeful development. Good, fast soph backs in Al Thomas, Tony Greene and good backup QB in Dennis O'Hara who, in Coach Ward's words, "can do everything". Sophs pressing for first-unit positions in almost every spot at spring's end. "We're still a year or so away from the kind of team I'd like to have at Maryland," says Ward. The Terps will enter 1968 season with 18 successive defeats and meet Florida State, Syracuse and Duke in first three games.

Outlook

Florida coaches anticipate fielding a veteran, talented football team in 1968, one capable of holding its own.

Led by senior fullback Larry Smith, most valuable player in the Southeastern Conference, the Gators also boast other top-flight players like tight end Jim Yarbrough, offensive guard Guy Dennis, linebacker David Mann, middle guard Bill Dorsey, defensive tackle Jim Hadley and defensive back Steve Tannen.

Florida's strong suits should be an improved and tested offensive line, two solid quarterbacks in Larry Rentz and Jack Eckdahl and the finest defensive team since Ray Graves became coach in 1960.

Primary concern for Graves is replacing an entire corps of wideout receivers, including record-breaking Richard Trapp. If this can adequately be done Gator hopes for a standout 1968 season may well be fulfilled.

1967 CONFERENCE RECORD: Won 3, lost 4, tied 0
1967 OVERALL RECORD: Won 4, lost 6, tied 0

Outlook

On the basis of the final four games last fall and spring practice, Coach Bill Tate is confident his Deacons will have an explosive offense this season. "I'm confident we'll be able to move the ball on anybody," Tate says, "and our defense will be a lot better than last year." Tate cites an experienced quarterback in Freddie Summers, an All-ACC selection last fall, and good backfield quickness as the strong points. He lists an inexperienced defensive line and lack of depth at linebacker as the weak points. Thirty-one lettermen are slated to return, including the entire starting backfield. I-Back Jack Dolbin and fullback Ron Jurewicz are among the top offensive performers while middle guard John McQueeney, linebacker Carlyle Pate and back Digit Laughridge head the defense. Defensive tackle Win Headey and defensive back Dick Bozoian are among the top newcomers. Four junior college transfers are expected to bolster the defense. The schedule is tough with N.C. State and Clemson furnishing the opposition in the first two games. Purdue, Minnesota, Virginia Tech and Florida State are the non-conference foes.

Outlook

Eighteen lettermen are back to bolster the forces as the Falcons prepare for the 1968 football season, the 13th campaign of football in the history of the U.S. Air Force Academy. Of the 18, four have earned two varsity monograms as the Cadets seek to rebuild for another rugged schedule.

Coach Ben Martin, starting his eleventh year at the Academy, will operate basically from a pro-T, fielding a strong eleven in both areas of the game.

Outlook

Offensive back and tackle strength, solid defensive ends but an inexperienced secondary characterize Virginia's 1968 football outlook. The serious depth situation of the past few years has been somewhat alleviated by the recruitment of good freshmen teams the last two years. All-ACC tackle Grey Shelly anchors the offensive line and with the return of All-ACC tailback Frank Quayle, a bonafide All-American candidate, and fullback Jeff Anderson, the Cavaliers will field another explosive offense. These two split rushing yardage in 1967 of 1,529 yards. Coupled with an aggressive defense that strikes from everywhere 1968 should be Virginia's best since 1952.

Outlook In a nutshell, Clemson lost heavy in offensive personnel, but should be as strong or stronger on defense this coming fall. Coach Frank Howard, starting his 29th season as head coach and 38th on the staff, is confronted with replacing seven offensive starters—and not just run-of-the-mill players. Wayne Mass made All-America his junior year at offensive tackle, Harry Olszewski grabbed all the A-A honors during '67, quarterback Jimmy Addison broke all passing record while flanker Phil Rogers set new standards in pass receiving. But the ACC's player-of-the-year, tailback Buddy Gore, returns as do eight of the defensive starters, headed by all-conference linebacker Jimmy Catoe and end Ronnie Ducworth. Gore set a new ACC record in rushing for one season with 1,045 yards. His two-year rushing mark is now 1,795 yards.

Outlook Tom Harp says: "We have fine group of young players who are going to be outstanding as soon as they mature. We lost more players than anyone else in the conference but, with our passing threat, we could beat some teams that we shouldn't. We have outstanding attitude and spirit, but, on the minus side is the total lack of experience at many key and backup positions. We'll have just average over-all team speed. In Courtillet, Dearth and Carter, we have three of the fine receivers in the conference. The brightest spot of our offense during the spring was our passing game. We'll probably have a team that is less consistent at moving the football but one that has the ability to strike with more suddenness. Defensively, we lost four of our front five and all but one in the defensive secondary."

1967 IN REVIEW

PASSING—The Tar Heels ranked fourth in the Atlantic Coast Conference in this department with an average of 116.4 yards a game. And it is interesting to note that UNC had only nine interceptions, the second best mark in the ACC. Quarterback Gayle Bomar completed 79 of 163 passes for 873 yards and this tied him for second place among individuals in the Conference.

RUSHING—This was a weak spot in the Carolina attack. The Tar Heels averaged only 145.2 yards a game and ranked seventh among the ACC teams. Bomar was the team leader with 529 yards, good for seventh place in the league. Fullback Tommy Dempsey gained 501 yards and had the best UNC average, 3.9 yards a carry.

TOTAL OFFENSE—The Tar Heels finished seventh in the ACC, beating out only Maryland. UNC finished with an average of 261.6 yards a game, picking up 2,616 yards in 690 plays. The average gain was 3.8 yards.

TOTAL DEFENSE—Sixth in the ACC, finishing ahead of Wake Forest and Maryland. The Tar Heels yielded an average of 325.7 yards a game. The UNC opponents picked up an average of 4.5 yards a play.

RUSHING DEFENSE—The Tar Heels were fifth in the ACC, finishing behind N. C. State, Clemson, Duke and Virginia. UNC gave up an average of 212.8 yards a game and an average of 4.0 a rush.

PASSING DEFENSE—Strangely, UNC was third in the league despite the poor overall record. The Tar Heels yielded 112.9 yards a game through the air, an average of 5.9 a play. Only Virginia and South Carolina had a better pass defense than the Tar Heels.

PASS RECEIVING—Peter Davis, who returns to the UNC cast this season, ranked second in the ACC behind Fred Ziegler of South Carolina. Peter caught 30 passes for 338 yards and two touchdowns. He averaged 11.3 yards a catch. Charlie Carr, who graduated, was fifth with 28 catches for 273 yards.

INDIVIDUAL TOTAL OFFENSE—In one of the closest races in history, Carolina's Gayle Bomar finished second behind Freddie Summers of Wake Forest. Summers gained 1,419 yards compared to 1,402 for Bomar. Gayle averaged 3.9 yards a play.

UNC
EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION

With prospects bright for an improved football team this fall, interest is booming in the University of North Carolina's Educational Foundation.

Ernie Williamson, executive secretary of the Foundation, has been extremely pleased by the response of Tar Heels everywhere during the past year.

"With our basketball team finishing No. 2 in the nation and football on the rise, our program definitely is booming," Williamson says.

Williamson always has felt that a donation to the Educational Foundation was not specifically a donation to athletics. He contends that the high type of young man who is awarded a scholarship not only pays dividends to the athletic department, but also is a great asset to the University.

He feels that the overall bonus is in helping a worthy young man obtain a college education. Athletics, while important, come second.

Williamson, a Tar Heel tackle during the Fabulous Forties, willingly accepts any donation to the Educational Foundation. He realizes that the small donor of today is the Big Ram of tomorrow. Membership in the Rams Club is confined to those who contribute $100 or more.

A special room on the south wing of the Kenan Field House serves as a meeting place for Rams and their families. The area is open two hours before a game and provides a lounge, picnic facilities and restrooms for those who come early. In the off-season, other functions are held there in relation to the Foundation program.

Foundation members receive priority on seat locations for football and basketball games. "A Foundation membership is a badge of prestige and loyalty to the University," Williamson says. "Many of our finest members, however, did not necessarily attend the University. They heard about our program and felt its was most worthy."

Williamson points out that a membership of any kind directly helps earnest young men achieve an education. All donations to the Foundation are tax deductible.

Current Rams Club Officers are Guy Andrews, President; S. Page Graham, First Vice-President; Norman McCaskill, Second Vice-President; Maurice Koury, Third Vice-President; Williamson, secretary; and W. R. (Bill) Cherry, Treasurer.

ORIGIN AND INCORPORATION

Three loyal and athletic-minded University of North Carolina alumni met in the office of Secretary of State Thad Eure at Raleigh in December of 1938 and organized the Educational Foundation, Inc.

They were John Umstead Jr. of Chapel Hill, Max Abernathy of Raleigh and Benton Stacy of Reidsville.

A charter was drawn with these three men as the incorporators and submitted to the late O. Max Gardner, who had his law firm clear it with the Internal Revenue Department as a charitable organization. The charter was issued December 7, 1938.

PURPOSE

The purpose of the Educational Foundation, Inc., is to raise funds for providing scholarships or grants-in-aid at the University to worthy and qualified high school students with athletic ability.

The Educational Foundation, Inc., operates on a dignified and realistic plane in compliance with all of the regulations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Atlantic Coast Conference.

It has the blessing and good will of all the University administration and, in its unique field, occupies a status similar to that of the Business Foundation, The Medical Foundation, and other money-raising organizations working for the benefit of the University.

The full amount of all donations of Foundation members is used for scholarships and grants. The organization has no administrative expense.

Ernie Williamson

EXECUTIVE SECRETARY

One of the most popular men in Tar Heel athletics is big Ernie Williamson, the executive secretary of the Educational Foundation.

A native of Crewe, Va., Ernie is a Carolina graduate with A.B. and M.A. degrees. He played one season of football here under Carl Snavely and was an outstanding tackle.

He was lured away to play professional football and had tenures with Los Angeles and Washington before his career was cut short by a knee injury.

Ernie returned to Chapel Hill to complete his education and went to the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn., where was an assistant football coach two years and head coach three years. He also coached wrestling and track.

Williamson returned to Carolina in 1957 and assumed his present position.

He is married to the former Elva Smith of Lawrenceville, Va., and they have a son, Wayne, 20, and a daughter, Carole, 12.

KENAN STADIUM

More than just an arena for football, Kenan Stadium is a famous Chapel Hill landmark.

Kenan Stadium celebrates its 42nd birthday this fall with one of the best home football schedules a Carolina team ever faced.

The historic stadium, ranked as one of the most beautiful in the country, will be the site of Tar Heel games with North Carolina State, South Carolina, Florida, Virginia and Duke.

Kenan Stadium has been the site of many great football thrills through the years. The first game ever played there was on Nov. 12, 1927 and Davidson College was soundly trounced, 27-0.

Kenan Stadium is more than just an arena for football. It is a Chapel Hill landmark. The thousands of visitors to the University campus each year always make it a point to drop by Kenan and view the magnificent stadium.

The man who made Kenan Stadium a part of the Carolina life was William Rand Kenan, Jr., who died in 1966. He was a remarkable individual who can be ranked among the great business tycoons of this country.

Kenan Stadium was constructed as a memorial to Mr. Kenan's parents, William R. Kenan and Mary Hargrave. The seating capacity in 1927 was 24,000. Mr. Kenan also directed building of the Kenan Field House at the east end of the arena.

Enhancing the stadium was a pet project of Mr. Kenan through the years. It was his gift sometime later that enabled portable stands to be installed in the end zones and to provide an upper deck above the permanent stands. The seating capacity now is around 46,000.

Mr. Kenan was born in North Carolina in 1873. He was a graduate of the University in the class of 1894. In 1944, his alma mater awarded him the honorary degree of LL.D.

SYNOPSIS OF LAST FALL'S ACTION

Carolina is noted for its rugged football schedules, and 1967 was no exception.

LATE BOMB SPOILS TAR HEEL OPENER

A 55-yard touchdown pass from Jim Donnan to Harry Martell lifted North Carolina State from behind in the last nine minutes and spoiled Bill Dooleys' Tar Heel debut. The final score was 13-7. Before the long TD pass, the Wolfpack had managed to score only on field goals of 44 and 33 yards by Gerald Warren. The Tar Heels took the lead just before the end of the half, marching 80 yards in 20 plays and getting the touchdown on Tommy Dempsey's one-yard smash. A crowd of 42,300 saw the game at Carter Stadium.

MUIR WRECKS UNC FOR GAMECOCKS

Fullback Warren Muir turned into a one-man wrecking crew as South Carolina came from behind to beat the Tar Heels at Columbia. Muir carried 35 times for 164 yards and scored the Gamecocks' go-ahead touchdown in the third quarter on a three-yard run. The Tar Heels tallied in the first quarter on Tommy Dempsey's 21-yard burst around end and added a field goal in the fourth period on Don Hartig's 24-yard kick. A crowd of 39,135 saw the night contest.

GREEN WAVE ENGULFS TAR HEELS

A fleet band of runners from Tulane easily whipped Carolina, 36-11, in the Tar Heels' home opener at Kenan Stadium. A crowd of 32,000 saw Green Wave quarterback Bobby Duhon toss two touchdown passes and run for a total of 50 yards. For the third straight game, Carolina took a first half lead on Don Hartig's 32-yard field goal. The UNC touchdown came in the third period on Saulis Zemaitis' one-yard run. Despite the loss, quarterback Gayle Bomar had a big day for Carolina, passing for 120 yards and running for 62.

A BIG VICTORY FOR VANDERBILT

One play turned the tide and carried Vanderbilt to a 21-7 win over Carolina before 25,000 fans in Kenan Stadium. The Tar Heels scored first on Gayle Bomar's six-yard burst and threatened to score again early in the second quarter. Then it happened. Vandy quarterback Gary Davis flipped a short pass to end Ben Goodridge and boom! Goodridge streaked 68 yards to paydirt. That tied it, 7-7, and the Commodores added the two winning touchdowns in the second half.

FLYERS SURVIVE CAROLINA COMEBACK

Carolina made its first football trip to Colorado and came away with a disappointing setback. The Air Force Academy built up a 10-0 lead through the first three quarters and made it stand for a 10-8 win. Stan Guth got the Air Force touchdown on a three-yard run and the Flyers added a field goal in the third period. The Tar Heels finally scored with 1:10 left in the game on Goyle Bomar's seven-yard pass to Peter Davis. An earlier Tar Heel drive had stalled at the Flyers' one.

A VICTORY CAKE FOR BILL DOOLEY

Bill Dooley got his first Carolina victory (and a cake, to boot) when the Tar Heels overpowered Maryland, 14-0, in Kenan Stadium. Gayle Bomar rushed for 117 yards and flipped two touchdown passes, one a 10-yarder to Tom Cantrell and the other an 11-yarder to Charlie Carr. The Tar Heel defense was by far better than in any other game as the Terps never offered a serious scoring threat. To celebrate the victory, athletic department officials presented Dooley with a big cake at his weekly press conference on Tuesday following the game.

THOSE DEVILISH DEACONS WIN IN KENAN

Despite a sensational performance by Carolina quarterback Gayle Bomar who ran and passed for 234 yards, Wake Forest whipped the Tar Heels for the third year in a row, 20-10. The game drew 36,000 in Kenan Stadium. Fleet Jack Dolbin scored for the Deacs on a 51-yard run on the first play from scrimmage. Wake led 7-3 at the half and made it 14-3 at the end of the third period. The Tar Heels narrowed the gap in the final period with Bomar passing 24 yards to Peter Davis for a touchdown.

TIGERS WIN EN ROUTE TO ACC CROWN

Clemson toppled the Tar Heels, 17-0 in Kenan Stadium, but the score doesn't begin to tell the story of the game. The Tigers led by only 3-0 for three quarters and were fortunate they weren't behind. The Tar Heels drove to the one-yard line in the second quarter only to lose the ball on a Bomar fumble. Clemson finally made it 10-0 early in the fourth period on Jimmy Addison's 12-yard pass to Lee Michael. The other Clemson TD came on a pass interception with 11 seconds left to play.

A BAD DAY AT CHARLOTTESVILLE

Fullback Jeff Anderson accounted for 106 yards rushing as Virginia overwhelmed the Tar Heels, 40-17, at Charlottesville. Carolina coaches felt it was one of the teams poorest performances of the season. Virginia struck for a 20-7 halftime lead and kept putting on the pressure in a wild second half. Fullback Tommy Dempsey tallied both Carolina touchdowns on runs of two and 25 yards. Gayle Bomar gained 93 yards rushing and Dempsey finished with 83. A highlight of the action was a 60-yard kickoff return by Dave Riggs in the first half, but he was tackled from behind.

A VERY HAPPY TAR HEEL FINALE

Carolina stunned the oddsmakers and ended the season on a happy note with a smashing 20-9 win over old rival Duke at Durham. A crowd of 44,000 saw the Tar Heels take a 14-0 halftime lead and then stave off repeated Blue Devil threats after intermission. Gayle Bomar was the offensive hero, running and passing for 184 yards. He tallied the first TD on a 12-yard run, passed five yards to Charlie Carr for the second and then set up the third which Dick Wesolowski got on a one-yard crack. The UNC defense, led by Mike Smith and Mike Hollifield, held Duke without a touchdown for three periods.

THE ABCs OF CAROLINA FOOTBALL

Coach Carl Snavely and Charlie Justice

"Let's Go CAR-O-LIN-A!"

That's the war cry which has inspired University of North Carolina athletes through 80 years of football competition and has helped to produce some of the most colorful heroes in the game.

If you know your ABC's of Tar Heel football, then these are the men and the deeds you will remember:

A Three cheers for Roy Abernathy, a hard-driving fullback in 1905 and Joe Austin, who caught a touchdown pass in 1940 which toppled top rival Duke, 6-3.

B Who else but George Barclay, the great guard who became Carolina's first all-America player in 1934 and later was head coach? And there was Handy Andy Bershak, the undersized end who swept all-America in 1937 and Johnny Branch, a fine runner on the 1930 and 1931 teams of a million backs.

C Chuck Collins, who coached Tar Heel teams from 1926 to 1933, was a big favorite in our town. So were a couple of fine backs of later years, Johnny Clements, the fleet wingback of the Justice Era and Jack Cummings, a quarterback who directed the never-to-be-forgotten 50-0 victory over Duke in 1959.

D This letter stands for the new era and a bold young man named Bill Dooley who hopes to put the Tar Heels back in the spotlight. And it also recalls the fabulous play of Harry Dunkle, the great kicker of the late 1930s.

E Long-time Tar Heel Athletic Director Chuck Erickson was called The Rabbit when he ran for long gains as a member of the teams from 1929 through 1931. And Junior Edge was the dynamic quarterback of the 1963 team which walloped the Air Force, 35-0, in the Gator Bowl.

F Ray Farris, two of them. The father was a star in the 30s. Ray, Jr., quarterbacked the Tar Heels with great talent in 1960 and 1961. Then there was Will Frye, a super end of the 1950s.

G Who else but Al Goldstein, the all-America who made miraculous pass catches in the late 1950s. He once dazzled a big crowd at Notre Dame with his one-handed grabs.

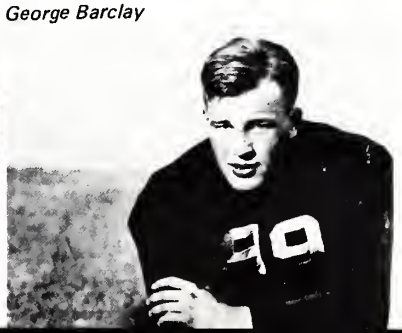
H Linebackers have made big names at Carolina and three of them stand out above the rest—Chris Hanburger (now of the Washington Redskins), Rip Hawkins and Irv Holdash. And H also stands for Jim Hickey, the gentleman coach who won a lot of games (and a lot of friends too) as Tar Heel coach from 1959 through 1966.

I The oldtimers will remember V.K. Irvine, one of the University's first coaches in 1894. They say he was a dandy.

J The shooting star named Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice was the most publicized and probably the best of all the Carolina players. He made all-America three straight years (1947-49) and led UNC to three bowl games. He capped a great college career when he won the Most Valuable Player Award at the College All-Star game in Chicago. Don Jackson was another great back on a great 1934 team.

Chris Hanburger

George Barclay



K No one will ever forget Gates Kimball, a massive tackle in the late 1930s and Bill Koman, a sensational linebacker who went on to gain fame with the St. Louis Cardinals in the NFL.

L One of the great backs of the late 1930s was Crowell Little and a couple of years later the hero was Sweet Jim Lalanne, a passer deluxe. Bob Lacey ranked as one of Carolina's all-time great pass catchers on the fine 1963 team.

M Harry Montgomery, a fleet back, and Steve Maronic, a bruising tackle, made headlines in the 1930s. Earlier, Monk McDonald was a mighty force on the 1922 team which won the South Atlantic Championship.

N Strud Nash scored 99 points for Carolina on the 1928-29-30 teams. James Newton was a star in another era in 1903.

Gates Kimball, left, and Paul Severin

O In 1904, a back named Wade Oldham scored four touchdowns in a single game against the University of Georgia. And there was H.B. Olcott, coach of the 1902 and 1903 teams.

P Three men from the 40s will be remembered here. They are Ken Powell, an all-America end, Ray Poole, who played here during the war years, and Walt Pupa, the crashing fullback on the Justice teams.

Q One of the best remembered trainers in the game is Percy Quinlan, who served Tar Heel teams in the 1920s and 1930s.

R Cheers for Hosea Rodgers, the fullback who teamed with Charlie Justice in some of the greatest games Carolina ever played.

S A whole lot of memories here. King Carl Snavely was the dynamic coach of the Justice era and of other Carolina teams before that. Paul Severin made headlines and all-America as a Tar Heel end in the 1930s. George Stirnweiss was a dandy fullback in the late 1930s before becoming a baseball star for the New York Yankees. Charlie Shaffer got hurrahs in another era and Len Szafaryn was the sensational tackle of the Justice era.

T No one in our town will ever forget Sunny Jim Tatum, the great player and coach who always was a Tar Heel favorite. He came back to rebuild Carolina teams and an untimely death took him away. Then there was Danny Talbott, the Rocky Mount kid who excited thousands with his exploits in the 1960s.

U Fans of another era will remember Neal Underwood, the star of the 1930, 31 and 32 teams.

V Bill Voris was the captain in 1945 when Carl Snavely made a triumphant return to Chapel Hill. Sid Varney was a star guard a couple of years later.

W There are a lot of W's in the great Carolina past. Some of them are Ken Willard, the mightly halfback of the 1963 Gator Bowl champions; George Watson, a star runner in the late 1930s; Art Weiner, all-America end of the late 1940s; and Ray (Bear) Wolf, the coach who won fame here in the 1930s.

X No good college man signs his name with an x, so we'll let this letter stand for all the fine Carolina players who made great contributions to the game and who are not mentioned elsewhere in this article.

Y Everyone remembers Tom Young, who coached the Tar Heels in 1943.

Z And a final bow to Rick Zarro, the young man from New Jersey who helped the Tar Heel defense at guard on the fine 1963 team.

Art Weiner

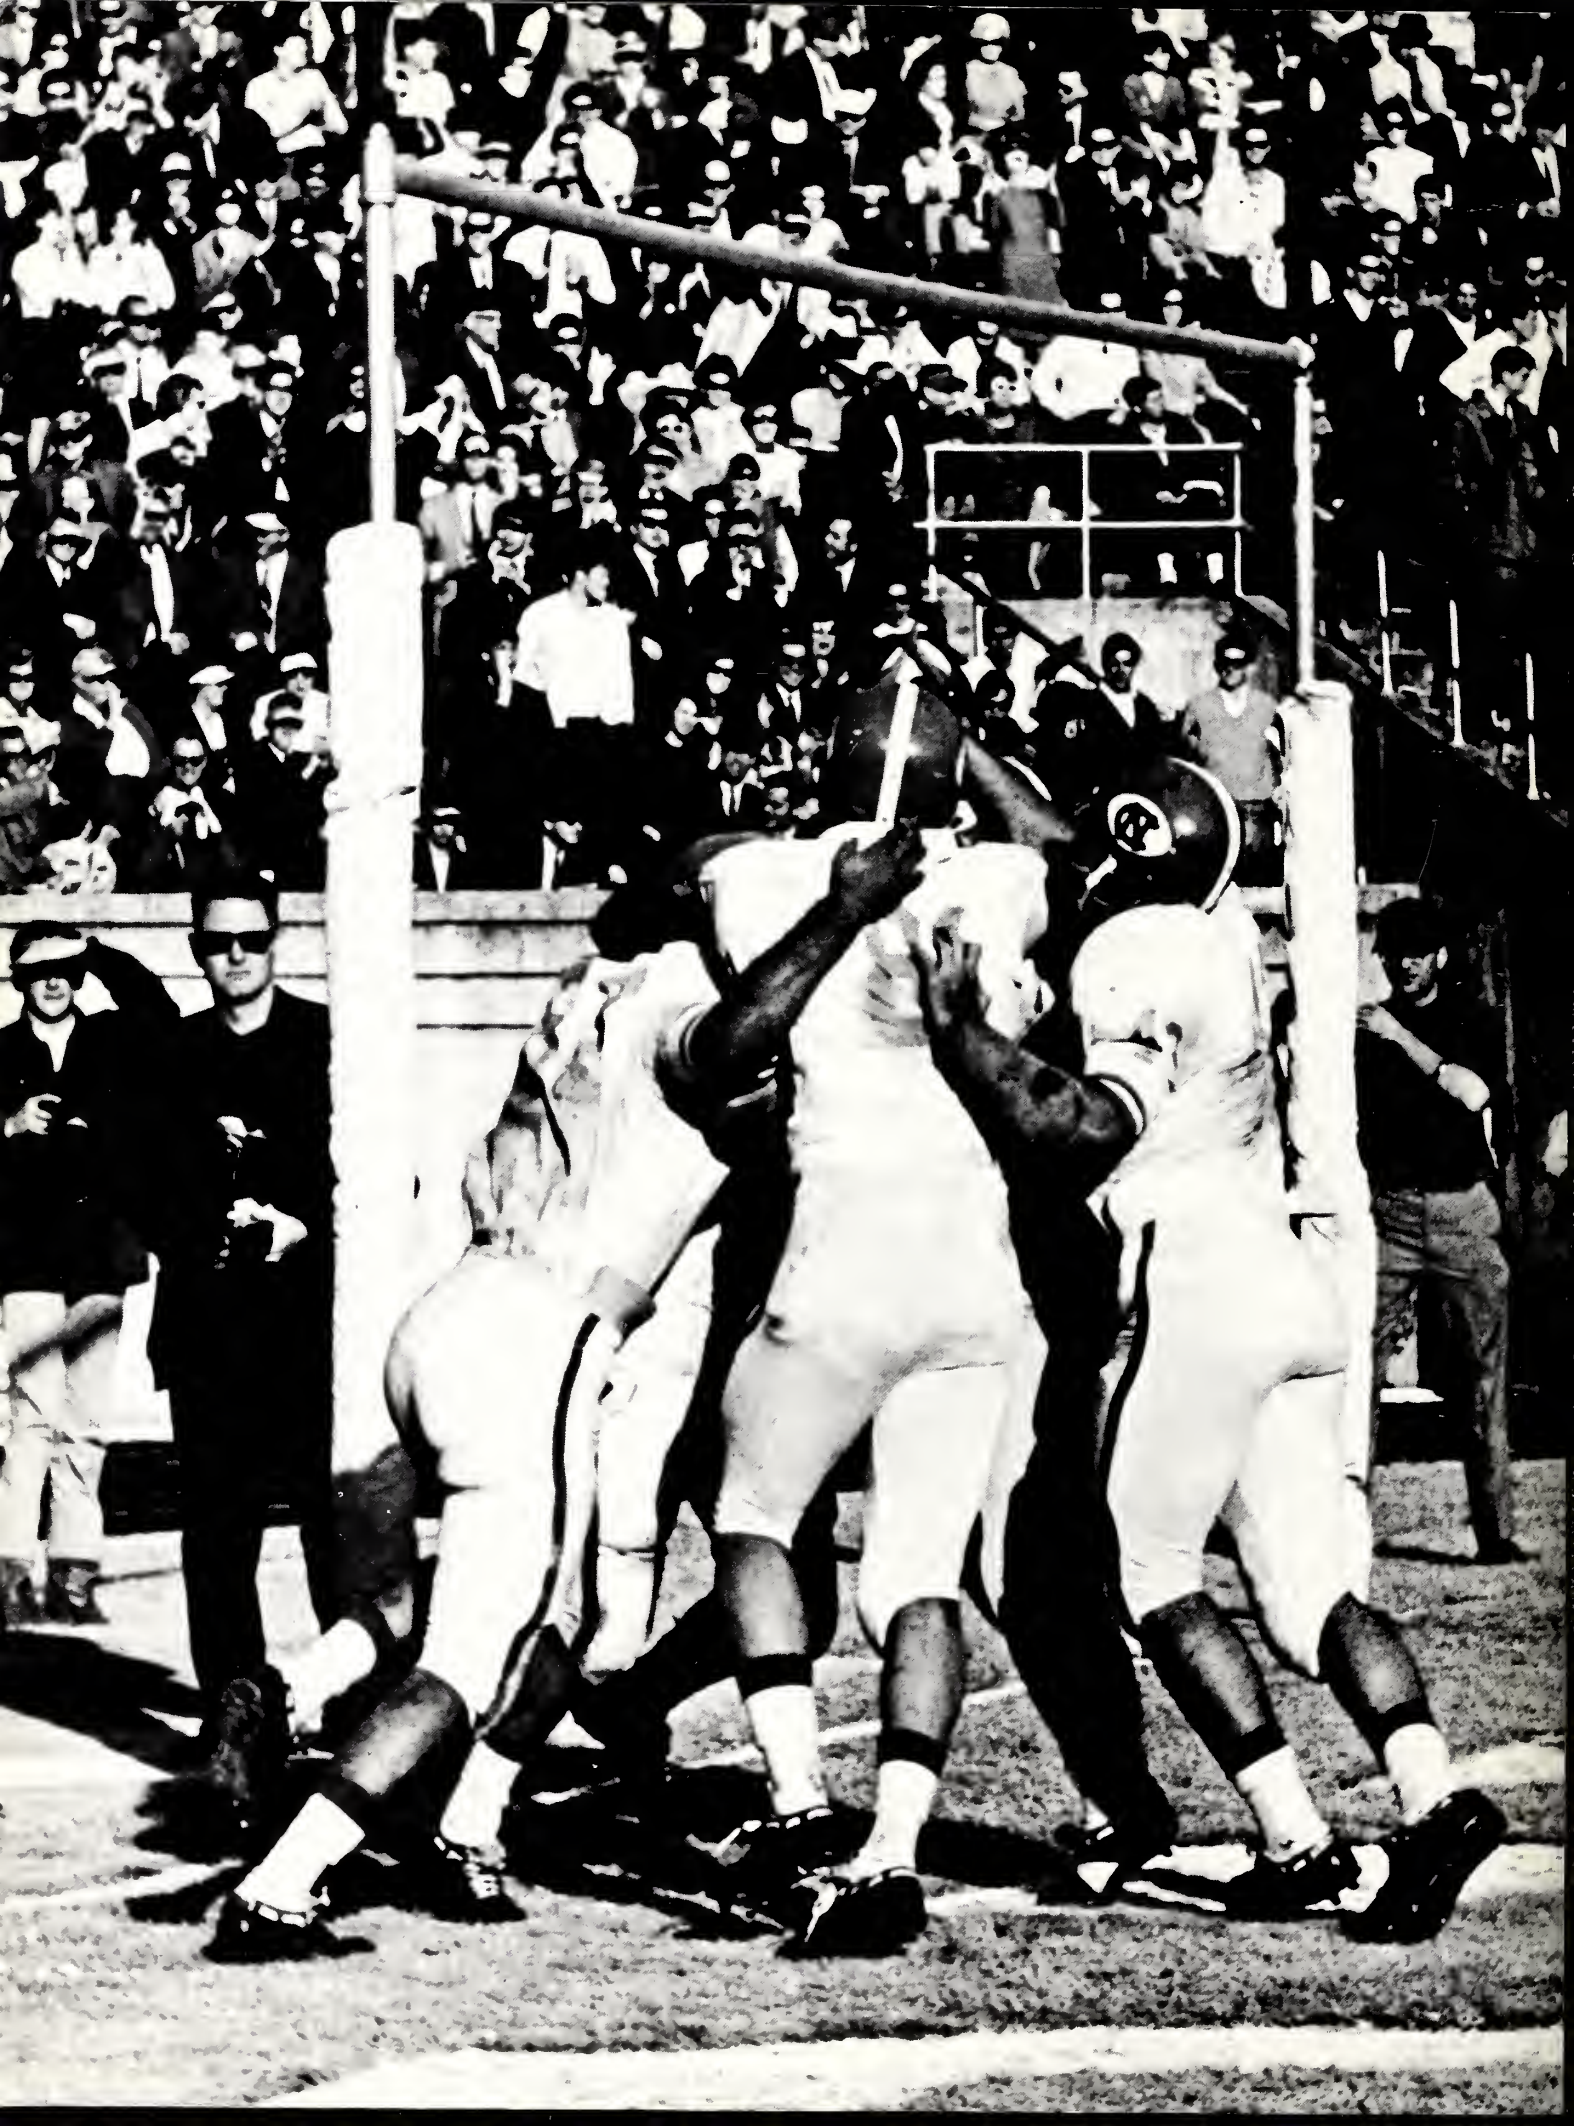
COACH DEAN SMITH

BASKETBALL PROSPECTUS

Despite the loss of all-America Larry Miller, North Carolina has high hopes of producing another fine basketball team which will be an Atlantic Coast Conference contender in 1968-69.

Returning from last year's National finalist team are four starters, seniors Rusty Clark, Dick Grubar and Bill Bunting; and the junior whiz Charlie Scott, who was selected for the U.S. Olympic squad this year.

But Coach Dean Smith says it will be impossible to replace a player of the stature of Miller. "In Larry's junior and senior seasons we had two of the greatest teams in Carolina history," the coach says. "It is pure conjecture whether we can approach the performance of those teams. In order to do it, we would have to be much better in many areas of play to compensate for the loss of Miller."

Sure to battle for starting berths are some key returnees from last year's reserve corps. They are Joe Brown, a 6-5 forward; and backcourt operators Gerald Tuttle, Eddie Folger and Jim Delany.


Up from the freshman team are three scholarship players, Lee Dedmon, Dave Chadwick and Richard Tuttle and two non-scholarship performers, Dale Gipple and Don Eggleston.
